RECEIVER NAMED FOR $397,000,000 HOLDING COMPANY; WILL REORGANIZE

Tri-Utilities Corporation of Wilmington, Del., Operating in 700 Cities in 26 States Defaults on Interest.

INABILITY TO SELL SECURITIES BLAMED

Committee of Three Selected to Work Out a Plan Designed to Keep Properties of the System Intact.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—Formation of a reorganization committee to handle the Tri-Utilities Corporation was announced today, after the appointment of a receiver for that public utility holding corporation in Wilmington, Del.

The company controls utilities serving nearly 700 municipalities scattered through 26 states. Total assets were carried in the Dec. 31 balance sheet at $397,487,420.

The corporation defaulted on the semi-annual interest payment due today on its 5 per cent convertible debenture bonds. The reorganization committee expects to work out a plan designed to keep the properties intact.

The corporation's difficulties are understood to be due to inability to sell new securities under existing market conditions. June 15 it paid off that part of a maturing one-year note issue outstanding, but it was assumed that the size of the interest payment due today and the maturing of $2,346,000 issue of secured debentures next Dec. 15 offered an awkward problem under present conditions.

Holding Company's Subsidiaries.

Tri-Utilities was incorporated in Delaware March 4, 1929, as the United Power, Gas & Water Corporation, but the name was changed on Aug. 1 of the same year. It subsidiaries are the Federal Water Service Corporation, supplying water to 300 communities in 10 states; People's Light & Power Corporation, which operates in 19 States; American Natural Gas Corporation, operating in Kansas and Oklahoma; Southern Natural Gas Corporation, which owns and operates a pipe-line system serving 43 communities in Alabama, Georgia and Mississippi, and Power, Gas & Water Securities Corporation, which holds and deals in utility securities, chiefly those of the Tri-Utilities system. Federal Water Service is the largest of these units, controlling the most extensive chain of privately owned waterworks in the country.

G. L. Ohrstrom, president of the Tri-Utilities Corporation, is head of G. L. Ohrstrom & Co., investment banking firm which has been closely identified with the system since its organization.

Outstanding Securities.

The corporation has outstanding the following securities: $12,024,000, principal amount of convertible debentures due Sept. 1, 1979; 2,346,000 secured debentures, due next Dec. 15; 128,947 shares of $3 preferred stock; 10,000 shares of $6 preferred stock, and 310,583 shares of common stock.

The receiver appointed by the United States District Court at Wilmington is Hugh M. Morris of Wilmington, a former Judge.

The reorganization committee is composed of Richard C. Hunt, chairman, of Chadbourne, Hunt, Jaeckel & Brown; William Bucksbaum, who has been an active public utility executive, and Medley B. Whelpley, president of American Express Bank and Trust Co. of New York.

Ohrstrom's Rapid Rise.

Ohrstrom has had a brilliant career in Wall Street. He has largely made his own way since he was a boy, working as a surveyor and lumberjack, and entering the investment banking business as an office boy. He is now only 37 years old.

He was born in Ford River, Mich., a lumber town. When the lumber there was exhausted the family moved to Tacoma, Wash. His father died when the boy was 15.

On graduation from high school at 17 he became a chain man in a party of surveyors working on the Cascade Mountain division of the Northern Pacific Railway. After promotion to instrument man of the surveying party Ohrstrom youth worked at various outdoor jobs, including bookkeeper for a construction gang

Chain of Banks Closed, Head Writes "I'll Be in Canada"

A. T. Hudspeth's Nine Depositories in Arkansas Suspend When Prosecutor at Harrison Receives Letter.

By the Associated Press.

HARRISON, Ark., Sept. 1.—Nine banks in Arkansas, known as the A. T. Hudspeth chain, closed today soon after Prosecuting Attorney Jack Holt received a letter bearing Hudspeth's name, which said he assumed responsibility for their condition, and added "When this is in print, I'll be in Canada."

The letter bore the postmark of St. Paul, Minn. Holt took steps forthwith to call the grand jury.

The following banks, all of which had re-opened within the last few months following a series of bank collapses in Arkansas last fall, closed again soon after the letter was made public:

The Citizens' Bank & Trust Co. and People's Savings Bank of Harrison; Citizens' Bank at Yelleville; First State Bank at Marshall; American Exchange Bank at Leslie; Bank of Alpena at Alpena Pass; Bank of Lead Hill at Lead Hill; Bank of North Arkansas at Everton, and the Marion County Bank at Flippen.

Aggregate deposits were estimated by the State Bank Department at $2,000,000. The closings left only one bank in two counties.

Hudspeth said in the letter addressed to the "public," that he had turned over $100,000 worth of property and his home for the benefit of depositors, and advised the public to watch the administration of liquidating affairs because, he said, the property he left, with what the stockholders had invested, would pay all the banks owed.

The letter quoted Hudspeth as saying he "owed it to the officers and employes of the banks" to assume the blame for whatever was done or left undone in connection with the closings.

"However," the letter read, "I did everything in my power to make them (the banks) go."

"Words cannot express my feelings," the letter continued. "Not only is my own life stamped out, but that of my folks and quite a few of my friends will be affected for years to come."

Hudspeth was affiliated with the A. B. Banks groups of financial institutions prior to the banking collapse last fall.

FLORIDA EAST COAST RAILWAY IS PLACED IN RECEIVERSHIP

Standard Oil Co. of Kentucky Represents Creditors in Court Action.

By the Associated Press.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Sept. 1.—Federal Judge Louise W. Strum has granted a receivership for the Florida East Coast Railway Co. and appointed William R. Kenan Jr., president of the company, and Scott M. Loftin, vice president, as receivers.

The receivership was on application of the Standard Oil Co. of Kentucky in behalf of itself and other creditors and consented to by the railway company. It became effective today.

The oil company's bill of complaint alleged the railroad had failed to earn its operating expenses and fixed charges since 1927. It is understood a bondholders' committee is being formed to work out a reorganization.

The Florida East Coast Railway was built by Henry M. Flagler, pioneer Florida developer. It extends from Jacksonville to Key West.

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—William R. Kenan Jr., president of the Florida East Coast Railway, said today the road would not pay interest on its first and refunding mortgage, series A 5 per cent bonds of 1974. There are $45,000,000 of these bonds outstanding, on which interest is due today.

14 HANDBOOK SHOPS RAIDED, GAMBLING SQUAD ARRESTS 30

Downtown, Midtown and West End Districts Visited; One Woman an Held.

Twenty-nine men and one woman were arrested by detectives of the gambling squad yesterday in raids on 14 racing handbook establishments in the downtown district, the midtown section and the West End.

Contrary to previous practice, the raiders made no effort to place bets in advance of the arrests. Those who were arrested were booked suspected of gambling and released under bond. The police are considering possible charges on which they may be tried and may summon them to Police Court to answer charges of vagrancy, as being in an unlawful occupation,

PROSECUTOR OBTAINS CANNON CASE RECORD

Chairman Nye Offers Him Any Other Information on Bishop's Hearing.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1.—District Attorney Rover today requested and received from the Senate Campaign Funds Committee the record of the hearings on the use of campaign money by Bishop James Cannon Jr., in 1928.

Chairman Nye of the Senate committee, in a letter accompanying the record, volunteered any additional information desired by the District Attorney.

Rover gave no information whether he would go before the grand jury with the case. Nye has referred to the transactions of Bishop Cannon in handling anti-Smith campaign funds of 1928 as amounting to "diversion."

Two associates of the Southern Methodist churchman, in directing the anti-Smith Democratic campaign, refused to testify before the committee last week—Miss Ada L. Burroughs, Richmond, treasurer, and J. Sidney Peters, Newport News, secretary.

TO PERMIT 340,000 BARRELS OF OIL A DAY IN EAST TEXAS

Commission in New Proration Rules Will Allow 225 Barrels From Each Well.

By the Associated Press.

AUSTIN, Tex., Sept. 1.—C. V. Terrell, chairman of the Texas Railroad Commission, said the commission would issue new proration rules for the East Texas oil field today, providing an allowable production of 225 barrels a day from each well. He estimated production from the field at the start would average 340,000 barrels daily.

EX-POLICEMAN WITH $80,000 INCOME IN 3 YEARS ON TRIAL

James T. Quinlivan, Formerly of Vice Squad, Accused of U. S. Tax Fraud.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—James J. Quinlivan, former vice squad policeman, went on trial today for defrauding the Government of income tax on $80,000 income for three years.

The prosecutor said it would be proved that the day after Quinlivan was assigned to the vice squad he deposited $300 and that 10 months later he bought a $16,000 house, making cash payment of $7000.

VON GRONAU FLYING TO CHICAGO

German Expected to Reach There This Afternoon.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Sept. 1.—Capt. Wolfgang von Gronau, Berlin to Chicago flyer, took off from Long Lake, Ont., at 11:05 a. m., Paul H. Miller, publisher of the Abendpost, said today.

Miller said he had the Long Lake telephone operator on the line as the trans-Atlantic flyer taxied off in his twin-motored Groenland Wal. The German airman and his companion were expected to land in Lake Michigan between 4 and 6 p. m. A committee of 100 planned to meet him, including city officials and prominent German-Americans.

286 MILES AN HOUR IN LAND PLANE IS UNOFFICIAL RECORD

WORLD MARK, 278, WAS SET IN 1924

However, This Must Be Exceeded by Five Miles Over Specified Course if New Figure Is Set.

By the Associated Press.

CLEVELAND, O., Sept. 1.—New speed for land planes was reached at the National air races today by Lowell Bayles, Springfield, Mass., in his Gee Bee low-wing monoplane. With the wind, in a mile dash, he attained a speed of 286.86 miles an hour; and against 264.9. This is fastest than the world record of 278.8 miles an hour, made by Adjutant Bonnet in France in 1924. Bayles' speed was not an official record, however.

Bayles drove four times across a mile straightaway, making an average of 267.342 miles an hour, about a mile greater than the American record held by Lieut. Alford Williams.

To establish a new record Bayles would have to make a speed five miles an hour greater than Lieut. Williams' or Adjutant Bonnet's record over a three-kilometer course.

Bayles made the dashes to qualify for the Thompson trophy race next Monday, the high speed event of the air races.

Landing Contests.

Despite the 20-mile-an-hour wind, Eldon Cessna, Wichita, Kan., brought his plane down only 11 inches from the marker to win the men's dead-stick landing contest, landing without brakes and with the motor shut off. He beat J. Livingston, Moline, Ill., by an inch.

Florence Klingensmith, Minneapolis, Minn., won the women's dead-stick landing contest, coming down 31 feet 11 inches from the marker.

John Livingston of Aurora, Ill., did better than 132 miles an hour to win the race for engines of 650 cubic inch piston displacement over a 30-mile closed course. It was his second victory in two days. Vernon Roberts of Moline, Ill., bettered 129 and Peter Brooks of Hicksville, N. Y., averaged more than 123 to finish second and third respectively.

The First Pursuit Squadron zoomed and twisted through tactical maneuvers as its part in the celebration of army day.

Vincent Bendix, sponsor of the Bendix Trophy race scheduled to start early tomorrow from Los Angeles to Cleveland, posted an additional prize of $2500 for any pilot who proceeds on to New York and breaks the transcontinental record now held by Capt. Frank Hawks. First prize of the Los Angeles-to-Cleveland dash is $7500, thus making a total prize of $10,000 for a new transcontinental record.

Lieut. Thayer Olds' plane crashed several miles north of the Cleveland Airport but he saved himself by a parachute jump from a 500-foot altitude. He landed in Lake Erie and was able to wade ashore unassisted.

Chief Honors to Woman.

So far as the races a woman has gained the largest share of the honors. She is Mrs. Phoebe Omlie, Memphis, Tenn., who flies a monocoupe. With this ship she won the handicap derby from Santa Monica, Cal., to Cleveland, and two 30-mile closed course races for women.

In the handicap she led a field of 51 men and woman aviators, winning the grand prize as well as the prize for women. She scored 109.19 points, while D. C. Warren, Almeda, Cal., who won the men's division of the race, got 103.5 points.

Lee Brusse, Glendale, Cal., took third place with 101.84; Eldon Cessna, Wichita, Kan., fourth, 101.37, and Marcellus King, Minneapolis, Minn., fifth, 100.76.

Second place in the women's division was awarded to Mrs. Martie Bowman, Glendale, with 98.98 points; Mrs. Mae Haislip, St. Louis, 98.90, third, and Miss Edith Foltz, Portland, Ore., fourth, 97.98.

FIVE ADMIT PART IN KIDNAPING OF NEW YORK BROKER

PART OF $50,000 RANSOM RECOVERED

Plot Disclosed to Murder One of Four Men Held Because of Quarrel Over Division of Money.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—Police announced today that the kidnaping plot involving the young broker, Charles Rosenthal, had been solved, the kidnapers arrested and part of the $50,000 ransom money recovered.

Four men and a Negro woman—the latter so light of complexion as to pass for white—are held. Police Commissioner Mulrooney said they had admitted their part in the abduction. The woman, he said, has been identified by Rosenthal as the one who lured him into the hands of the others, who held him prisoner from Aug. 11 until, upon payment of $50,000 ransom, he was released Aug. 29.

The arrests were made yesterday and today in New York, Newark, N. J., and Atlantic City.

John Markham was arrested at the Yankee Stadium yesterday afternoon. Last night detectives went to Newark, where John Rocco and Theodore Adnolfi were picked up. The woman, Betty Steward, was captured in Atlantic City with Nicholas Green, identified by Rosenthal as the leader of the kidnapers.

The arrests may have saved the life of Green, Mulrooney said. Rocco and Adnolfi told him that they had planned to put Green "on the spot" for withholding $25,000 of the ransom money from them.

More than $16,000 of the ransom was recovered. Stuffed in a glove belonging to Adnolfi was $8300. He said it represented his share of the extortion money. Rocco's trousers yielded more than $3000. The Commissioner did not explain where the rest of the $16,000 had been found.

FIVE PRIESTS DROWNED WHEN RIVER BOAT UPSETS

Sixth Member of Dominican Order Swims Ashore at Eardley, Quebec.

By the Associated Press.

EARDLEY, Quebec, Sept. 1.—Five members of the Dominican Order, on vacation at the summer camp of the order here, were drowned in a boating accident on the Ottawa River today.

The rowboat in which they were crossing the river capsized when it was caught in a heavy swell. With one exception, all were residents of Quebec Province.

The victims were: the Rev. Father Harris, 28 years old, Montreal; the Rev. Father Rousseau, 25, Three Rivers; the Rev. Father Couture, 25, Levis; the Rev. Father Nicole, 28, Quebec City; the Rev. Father Siblere, 33, Switzerland.

The one occupant of the boat who was able to swim, the Rev. Father Courtemanche, swam ashore, but was almost exhausted.

CALDWELL DENIED NEW TRIAL

Attorneys for Former Financier Say They Will Appeal.

By the Associated Press.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Sept. 1.—Judge Chester K. Hart today refused to grant a new trial for Rogers Caldwell, former financier, who was convicted in July of fraudulent breach of trust and sentenced to serve from one to three years in the State penitentiary. Caldwell's attorneys said the case would be appealed to the Tennessee Supreme Court.

Caldwell was president of Caldwell & Co., investment banking house, and its subsidiary, the Bank of Tennessee, before they collapsed last fall. The charges on which he was convicted grew out of the bank's operations.

GRAF ZEPPELIN COMPLETES TRIP TO PERNAMBUCO

Arrives Over City Late in Afternoon Ending Flight From Germany With 13 Passengers.

By the Associated Press.

PERNAMBUCO, Brazil, Sept. 1.—The Graf Zeppelin arrived in Pernambuco at 5:30 p. m. today, completing its nonstop flight from Freidrichshafen, Germany, which Began Saturday.

The big dirigible flew over Pernambuco while ships and factories blew their whistles and crowds of people, filling bridges and squares, cheered.

The airship, illuminated and flying low, proceeded southward to be moored at the landing field, eight miles from the city.

Radio messages earlier in the day from Dr. Hugo Eckener, commander of the dirigible, said head winds had decreased his speed somewhat.

The Portuguese liner Nyassa was in communication with the Zeppelin several times during the night and again just after daylight. Dr. Eckener told the Nyassa's captain everything was going smoothly.

Pernambuco's hotels are crowded with visitors eager to see the big airship which will remain only 48 hours before starting back for Friedrichshafen.

GIFFORD PICKS OWEN D. YOUNG TO AID UNEMPLOYMENT PLAN

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1.—Appointment of Owen D. Young of New York as chairman of the committee to co-ordinate local unemployment relief efforts was announced today by Walter S. Gifford, national relief director.

Gifford said Young, chairman of the General Electric Co., had agreed to serve.

The committee's job will be to co-ordinate efforts of State authorities and welfare organizations in raising unemployment relief funds.

Gifford announced also a committee of 18 members to assist Young, including Walter Teagle, New York, president of the Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey; Henry M. Robinson, Los Angeles banker and friend of President Hoover and others nationally known.

Meanwhile, the relief organization announced reports indicated some signs of improved conditions in 14 cities, including St. Louis, Chicago, New York, Dallas, Salt Lake City, San Francisco and Los Angeles.

40 DOCTORS, TWO DRUGGISTS INDICTED ON LIQUOR CHARGES

Federal Grand Jury in Brooklyn Acts After Inquiry Into Illegal Prescriptions.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—Forty doctors, two druggists and two drug clerks were indicted by the Federal grand jury in Brooklyn today as result of investigation by Department of Justice agents into the illegal sale of liquor by druggists and of liquor prescriptions by doctors.

Federal Judge William B. Sheppard, in receiving the indictments, commended the grand jury. "If other juries would do their duty in the same manner," he said, "there would be no need for meetings at Madison Square Garden to consider means for getting rid of gangsters. The law would take care of the gangsters."

BABY GIRL KILLED WHEN SHE ENTERS FUMIGATED HOUSE

Child, 2, Walks Into Neighbor's Home and Is Asphyxiated — Body Is Found by Mother.

Marie Louisa Spencer, 2 years old, 5038A Walton avenue, was asphyxiated today when she entered an apartment at 4633 Westminster place, which was being fumigated.

The occupants of the apartment, William MacCready and his mother, a widow, are friends of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Spencer, parents of the child. Apparently Marie went to the place, across an alley from her home, for a visit, about 11 a. m. Finding the rear door unlocked, she entered, and was almost immediately overcome.

The body was found by Mrs. Spencer within 15 minutes after she had last seen her daughter alive. Noting the child's ball lying on the rear porch of the apartment, Mrs. Spencer investigated and found the body lying in a hallway. Firemen were summoned and worked with an inhalator for an hour without success. Dr. P. B. Paugh, 444 North Euclid avenue, pronounced the child dead.

The fumigating was being done by Peter Osterman, 6308A Maple avenue. He was arrested for the Coroner.

U. S. POPULATION CENTER IN STRIP COAL MINE

Indiana University Professor Locates Point Northeast of Linton, Ind.

By the Associated Press.

LINTON, Ind., Sept. 1. — The exact center of population of the United States is in the middle of a strip coal mine.

Working from recently issued Government calculations indicating it was 2.9 miles northeast of here, Prof. W. A. Cogshall, head of the Indiana University Astronomy Department, yesterday located the pivotal point of Uncle Sam's millions. He pointed to a spot in the middle of one of the muddy, almost barren mines, which provide this community's greatest industry.

85 RENO DIVORCES IN DAY

By the Associated Press.

RENO, Nev., Sept. 1.—Eighty-five couples went through the divorce courts yesterday, and among them were many of prominence in business, social and theatrical circles.

Thomas P. Durell, business partner of Marshall Field in the firm of Field, Lord & Co., was divorced by Virginia R. Scully Durell of New York, who won the decree on a cross-complaint charging cruelty. Durell had brought suit on the same grounds. A large property settlement was said to be involved. Priscilla Peabody Talbot, New York society woman, divorced John Alden Talbot. Mrs. Frances M. Brennan, known on the vaudeville stage as Flo Browne, won a decree from Thomas Stanley Brennan.

WATER HAMPERS TRAFFIC

Nearly 12 Inches in Street at Kingshighway and McPherson.

Accumulation of water in West End streets during the heavy rainstorm this afternoon hampered automobile traffic and delayed street cars.

At Kingshighway boulevard and McPherson avenue the water reached a depth of nearly 12 inches, halting eastbound street cars and causing west-bound cars to be routed temporarily north on Euclid avenue and west on Delmar boulevard. The rainfall measured less than a half inch.

TWO JUDGES ACT TO STOP DOG RACING AT MADISON

Bernreuter and Miller to Name Special Prosecutor to Make Investigation and Apply for Dissolution of Brown's Order.

TRACK RE-OPENS WITH BIG CROWD

Action of Associate Denounced by St. Clair County Jurist Who Says It's Time to Call a Spade a Spade.

Circuit Judges Louis Bernreuter and Henry G. Miller of the Third Judicial Circuit of Illinois took steps today to set aside a temporary injunction issued by their associate, Circuit Judge Jesse R. Brown of Madison County, restraining Sheriff Fitzgerald and State's Attorney Bohm from interfering with the operation of the dog racing track of the Madison Kennel Club, near Collinsville.

The track opened last night without interference, the first time since Aug. 5, last, when activities ceased after six days of racing upon the unexpected return of Judge Bernreuter from a Colorado vacation with the announcement he had come back to see the gambling laws of Madison County were not violated. About 10,000 persons attended the races last night.

Unless the temporary injunction is set aside, the track will be protected against official interference until Oct. 19, the opening day of Madison County Circuit Court, when Judge Brown intends to hold a hearing on the dog track's application for a permanent injunction.

While arrangements were being made to reopen the track yesterday, Judges Bernreuter and Miller, both of whom have criticised sharply the action of Judge Brown, the only other Judge in the circuit, were laying plans to set aside the injunction as soon as possible.

As a result, they announced after a conference at Belleville today that they will appoint a special prosecutor to make a vigorous investigation, preliminary to filing a motion to dissolve Judge Brown's injunction order.

Motion to Be Filed With Brown.

The motion probably will be filed with Judge Brown. Judge Bernreuter said that it is obligatory upon a Judge to grant a hearing on such a motion upon receipt of five days' notice. He indicated notice would be served as soon after the appointment of the special prosecutor as possible.

"We hope to have the whole thing cleared up in five days," he said, "and the quicker we get this dog track situation cleared up the better it will be for everybody."

Judges Miller and Bernreuter explained that the appointment of a special prosecutor would be solely to give representation to the people of Madison County.

"Judge Brown's order deprived the people of representation," Judge Miller said, "as it restrained their representative, the States' Attorney, from taking any action. We are confronted by the remarkable picture of an electorate deprived of its right by the order of a Judge."

The three Judges have equal jurisdiction in the seven-county circuit, although it is customary for Judge Brown, who lives at Alton, to sit in Madison County; Judge Miller of Lebanon, in St. Clair County, while Judge Bernreuter of Nashville presides at the county seats of the remaining counties, Bond, Washington, Monroe, Perry and Randolph. There is no hard and fast rule, however, and the Judges apportion their work at the beginning of the year. They will meet for this purpose prior to the opening of St. Clair County Court Sept. 14.

Name Prosecutor at Once.

Appointment of the prosecutor will be made probably within 24 hours, Judges Bernreuter and Miller announced. He will be instructed to "go to the legal limit" in making his investigation.

The two Judges went through the formality of examining a copy of the injunction order at Edwardsville. Under the statutes, Judge Miller explained, it is necessary to request the State's Attorney to appoint a prosecutor, but since he is enjoined by Judge Brown's action and is out of the State besides, the

RAILWAY FIGURE CUT $507,000

Increase of $9,400,000 on Power Plants Proposed in Report to Equalization Board.

By the Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Sept. 1.—An assessed valuation of $513,107,693 for that part of the property of Missouri public utilities directly assessed by State agencies, for 1931 taxes, was recommended by the State Tax Commission in a report submitted today to the State Board of Equalization. The amount recommended is an increase of $13,152,673 over the valuation fixed for 1930 taxes of the companies by the Board of Equalization.

The Tax Commission recommendations do not include real estate, certain buildings, materials and supplies, and certain other items of property of the utilities, which are assessed by local assessors. The recommendation of the Tax Commission were as follows:

Steam railroad, 53 companies, $282,104,583, a decrease of $507,027 from the valuation on which the companies paid taxes last year.

P. S. Co. Valuation $40,000,000.

The Tax Commission recommended an assessed valuation of $40,001,026 for the St. Louis Public Service Co. While this is a reduction of $4,481,369 from the final assessment fixed for the company last year by the State Board of Equalization, it is actually a reduction of only $868 from the valuation of $40,001,894 on which the street car company paid taxes for 1930.

When the Board of Equalization assessment for the street car company was fixed for 1930, the company filed suit in St. Louis Circuit Court attacking the reasonableness of part of the assessment. After an agreeemnt had been reached between the company and the taxing authorities, the St. Louis Circuit Court reduced the assessment to $40,001,894. The reduction in assessment was on account of street paving and grading done by the company, and because of expenditures it had been required to make on viaducts and bridges not owned by it. The court held that, while the company had paid for this work, it had no property rights in the items and should not be assessed on them.

Chairman J. T. Waddill of the Tax Commission said the recommendation for 1931 conformed to the amount on which the street car company paid taxes last year because of the court ruling, certain retirements of property by the company, and partly because of the condition of the company's business which has been declining steadily.

"The company has been having a hard time," Waddill said, "and some weight was given to this condition."

Terminal Assessment Down.

An assessment of $13,749,440 was recommended for the St. Louis Terminal Railroad Association, a reduction of $355,000 from the 1930 assessment.

The Union Electric Light & Power Co. was assessed at $29,246,900 in the commission report, an increase of $2,398,092 over last year's.

The assessed valuation of the Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. was $36,660,400 for its property in Missouri. This is an increase of $1,799,545 over the 1930 assessment.

A combined assessment of $5,590,841 was recommended for the electric property of the Laclede Power & Light Co. and the Phoenix Light, Heat & Power Co., allied companies of the Laclede Gas Light Co. of St. Louis. This is an increase of $1,280,413 over last year's. The property of the Laclede Gas Light Co. is assessed in St. Louis because gas companies are not under the jurisdiction of the Tax Commission.

The Missouri half of the Eads bridge at St. Louis was assessed at $1,398,290, the same as in 1930. The Missouri half of the McKinley bridge was assessed at $970,757, also unchanged. The Chain of Rocks bridge was assessed by the commission this year for the first time. A valuation of $200,000 was placed on the Missouri end.

Wreckage of Marine Flyer's Plane After Mid-Air Crash at Cleveland

FLYING in formation at the National Air Races at Cleveland, O., Sunday, Lieut. W. O. Brice of the Marines collided with the ship flown by Lieut. S. H. L. Sanderson, also of the Marines. Both men took to their parachutes and landed safely. Brice's plane struck the chimney of a schoolhouse. Part of the wreckage remained on the roof, the remainder fell to the ground.

on that railroad and longshoreman. For a time he worked for the Government of British Columbia on Vancouver Island making timber surveys.

College Graduate as Office Boy.

In 1914 Ohrstrom entered the University of Michigan and about three years later joined the army air force. He and Joseph D. Mallory downed a German airplane Nov. 10, 1918, near Moulins, France. This was reported officially as the last German plane brought down by an American. He returned to college in February, 1919, and received his degree later that year.

After all this variegated preparation Ohrstrom joined the organization of P. W. Chapman & Co., Inc., as an office boy. He became a salesman in nine months and sales manager in two and a half years.

Ohrstrom attracted some attention about two years ago as the head of a syndicate which undertook the construction of the 64-story building of the Bank of Manhattan Co. which cost $20,000,000. The structure is topped b ya large crystal sphere 840 feet above Wall Street and has a ground area of 30,000 square feet. It is one of the highest buildings in the world.

DANIEL A. HILL, FORMER HEAD OF ADVERTISING FIRM, DIES

Daniel A. Hill, former president of the Western Advertising Co., died last night at Jacksonville, Fla., of a liver ailment from which he had been suffering for about six months. The body will be brought to St. Louis for burial in Bellefontaine Cemetery.

Mr. Hill, who was 53 years old, was a son of the late Ewing Hill, founder of the advertising company. He succeeded to the management of the business after the death of his father in 1912, acting as president until the firm was sold in 1924 to the Barron Collier Advertising Co. of New York. He continued his connection with the company as sales manager until his retirement in August, 1930. He went to Florida about three months ago because of failing health. His St. Louis residence was at the Warwick Hotel.

Surviving are his mother, Mrs. Octavia C. Hill of New York; four children, Elizabeth and Katherine Hill and Franklin Hill and Daniel A. Hill Jr., all of Pasadena, Cal.; two brothers, Ewing and Van Dyke Hill, and a sister, Mrs. G. A. P. Oliver, all of New York.

HEIM'S OLD BREWERY RAZED

A four-story brick building at Tenth and State streets, East St. Louis, that once housed the locally famous Heim's Brewery, is being razed to make way for real estate development.

Since the site was purchased 70 years ago by Ferdinand and Michael Heim, brothers, who remodeled an old frame vinegar plant into a brewery, the structure has become a landmark for travelers along the old Rock road to Belleville, now a modern highway.

TWO JUDGES ACT TO STOP DOG RACING AT MADISON TRACK

way was opened to appeal directly to Attorney-General Carlstrom.

Carlstrom's first assistant, W. E. Trautmann, who talked to the Judges over the telephone yesterday, replied formally today that no prosecutor was available from the staff at Springfield.

"This was an expected formality usual in such cases," Judge Miller said, "as the Attorney-General has scores of such requests, but it was necessary to obtain the official refusal so that we might go ahead and appoint our own special prosecutor."

Judge Miller for Showdown.

"It's high time to call a spade a spade," Judge Miller remarked, "and regardless of my political future I'm prepared to adopt every legal method to carry out my oath of office to administer the law. Dog racing has got to stop."

In 1929 Judge Miller refused an injunction sought by the Mississippi Valley Kennel Club of St. Clair County to restrain interference with their new dog racing track at Cahokia. In denying the application he held that the Court had no authority to restrain officers from enforcing the law.

Judge Miller's interest in the present situation arose when he learned Sunday of the order issued by Judge Brown the day before and read the resultant criticism of Judge Bernreuter.

"Judge Brown's action came as a surprise to me just as it did to Judge Bernreuter," Judge Miller said, "and I immediately called Judge Bernreuter and volunteered my co-operation."

Judge Miller said he characterized the action of Judge Brown in the telephone conversation as "an attempt to invoke mob rule against law and order. The injunction was issued without notice or bond."

"I am absolutely for a showdown now," Judge Miller said he assured Judge Bernreuter, "because it represents a choice between mob rule or law and order."

Injunction Called "Improper."

Judge Bernreuter, who previously had expressed himself as "astonished" at the restraining order and characterized the action of Judge Brown as "unethical and improper," said yesterday that "all kinds of political pressure was brought to bear on me all summer to make me withdraw my opposition to the dog tracks." He declined to explain in detail the nature of the "pressure."

Judge Brown declined to comment on criticism of his order by associate Judges and said the order itself "was a matter to be threshed out in court and not to be discussed until it has come up in court."

EX-CONVICT DIES IN HOSPITAL, AUTOPSY TO BE PERFORMED

Donnell Maher Reported to Have Been Injured in Fight Aug. 10.

Donnell Maher, 29 years old, an ex-convict, died at city hospital today. An autopsy will be performed to determine the cause. He was first admitted to the hospital Aug. 10, found to be suffering from a fractured skull and chronic alcoholism, and removed to his home the next day. Last night he was returned to the hospital.

Maher was found unconscious on the night of Aug. 10 at Belleglade and St. Ferdinand avenues. He would not tell police what had happened, but a witness said he had been injured in a fight with another man.

Maher was wounded in 1920 in a pistol fight with a restaurant owner whom he had held up. He was convicted of robbery and sentenced to the penitentiary, from which he was released in 1925.

URGES RATE RISE IN AID OF RAILROAD BONDS

F. R. Dick, New York, Cites Fall in Securities at I. C. C. Hearing.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Sept. 1.—A steady decline of railroad bonds, dut to continued low earnings, resulting from economic conditions and increased competition, was described at the Interstate Commerce Commission hearing on the proposed 15 per cent increase in freight rates today by Fairman R. Dick, member of the firm of Roosevelt & Sons, and Secretary of the Bondholders' Committee on Railroad Emergency.

He testified that since last February it had been difficult for the railroads to dispose of their bonds, that the securities were no longer regarded by banks as secondary reserve, and that there were only three railroads in the country whose bonds could be regarded as high grade. The three, he said, were Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe, Union Pacific and Norfolk & Western.

Using the Santa Fe general mortgage 4 per cent issue as his yardstick, Dick said that since March 1, 1920, the lowest point in railroad bond credit in the last 10 years, and March, 1930, the peak, four bonds improved, eight were unchanged and 34 declined.

Dick testified that the railroad bonds were "very sensitive to market conditions" and blamed rumors that the commission looked with disfavor on the proposed rate increase for their present condition.

"The mere assurance that sufficient return on their investments will be allowed the carriers," Dick said, "will no longer satisfy their financial backers as it did before."

'If the testimony shows that the increase in rates will not increase the railroads' revenue, is it the duty of the Interstate Commerce Commission to allow the increase?" Commissioner William Lee of Idaho asked. 'If the commission is absolutely positive this increase will not bring additional revenue," answered Dick, "a call should be issued for an immediate session of Congress. If the industry can't get any more money it will be insolvent."

Dick said that because the Government through regulatory measures had taken from the carriers the power to protect themselves, it must provide protection for them and their investors in time of emergency.

Milton Bauman and Dabney T. Waring testified at another hearing on short line cases in behalf of Eastern shippers. Bauman said shippers of less than carload lots would turn to trucks if the increases were granted although he expressed the opinion that if the railroads increased their tariff truck operators would do likewise. He testified that generally at present truck companies charged lower rates than the railroads.

FUNERAL SERVICES THURSDAY FOR NICHOLAS M. BELL

To Be Conducted by Masonic Order at Scottish Rite Cathedral at 2:30 P. M.

The funeral of Nicholas M. Bell, former Excise Commissioner, and widely known Democrat, will be held at 2:30 p. m. Thursday in Scottish Rite Cathedral, 3627 Lindell boulevard. The body will be in state at Kron's undertaking establishment, 2707 North Grand boulevard, until 8 a. m. Thursday. Anchor Lodge of Masons will have charge of the funeral. Burial will take place in Bellefontaine Cemetery.

Col. Bell, as he was usually called, died yesterday at his home, 4442 West Pine boulevard, after a brief acute illness following two years of invalidism. He was nearly 89 years old. He was a delegate to the Democratic national conventions of 1868 to 1892, inclusive, being secretary of most of the gatherings. Besides his state office, under Gov. Stone, he held the post of superintendent of foreign mails in President Cleveland's first administration.

He is survived by a son, Christian Peper Bell, and a daughter, Mrs. Richard Hinrichs. Mrs. Bell, who died in 1912, was a daughter of Christian Peper, St. Louis tobacco manufacturer.

ILLINOIS SEEKS CHANGE IN DUCK HUNTING SEASON

Gov. Emmerson Chooses Committee to Try to Alter President's Order.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Sept. 1. — Gov. Emmerson today appointed a committee to go to Washington to discuss with Federal officials the possibility of changing the recent order that limits duck hunting here to the month of October only.

The commission is composed of Director Ralph F. Bradford of the Illinois Department of Conservation; W. R. James of Chicago, president of the Chicago West Parks, and Otto H. Hassel, prominent Chicago business man. The flight of ducks over Illinois is almost negligible in the month of October.

Laura Ingalls Flies All Night.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—Although she announced yesterday that she had "just about abandoned" her intention of flying the Atlantic this year, Laura Ingalls made an all-night test flight over Long Island. She said yesterday weather reports were discouraging and she saw little prospect of accomplishing her purpose. But a few hours later she took off in her fully fueled plane and soared about until after 6 o'clock this morning.

DEAN INGE SAYS HIS BOOKS CURE HIS WIFE'S INSOMNIA

Suggests That Physicians Prescribe Certain Volumes in Severe Cases of Sleeplessness.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, Sept. 1. — The Very Rev. William Ralph Inge, "Gloomy Dean" of St. Paul's, today recommended in a speech at the Library Association convention that physicians prescribe books by certain authors as a cure for insomnia.

"Often," he said, "I have found my wife napping peacefully with one of my own books upside down on her knee." Among the Dean's books are "Society in Rome Under the Caesars," "Christian Mysticism," "Speculum Animae," "Types of Christian Saintliness," "The Philosophy of Plotinus," and "The Eton Latin Grammar."

11 Others Slightly Injured in Fire Following Explosion of Gasoline.

By the Associated Press.

FORREST CITY, Ark., Sept. 1.—Three Negroes were burned severely and 11 others were slightly injured when fire swept an iron cage at the St. Francis County convict farm near here last night.

The fire started when a prisoner struck a match near a can of gasoline which exploded. James Norvel, a guard, risked his life to unlock the cage and release the prisoners.

KILLS WOMAN, THEN HIMSELF

Mobile Policeman Murders Companion on Auto Ride.

By the Associated Press.

MOBILE, Ala., Sept. 1.—Edward Stafford, 36 years old, Mobile policeman, shot and killed Miss Betty Owens, 21, daughter of "Tiny" Owens, pitcher for the Mobile baseball club, then killed himself near here early today. Stafford was married and the father of one child.

Roy Jenkins of Bonifay, Fla., told police he and Stafford went for an automobile ride with Miss Owens and her sister, Polly. All were drinking, he said. At Grand Bay, Ala., 28 miles from Mobile, Jenkins said, the car was stopped and he and Polly Owens left it for a moment. They heard shots, and ran back to find Stafford and the girl dying. Stafford and his wife were estranged.

BARBED WIRE FOR BECKER

Secretary of State Guessing Contest Winner at Reunion.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Sept. 1.—Secretary of State Becker, who has announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for the governorship, today received notice that he had won a roll of barbed wire, in a guessing contest on the weight of a plaster of paris figure of a calf, which was on exhibition recently at a reunion in Golden City, Mo. Becker's guess tied for second place with that of 15-year-old Woodrow Wilson of Golden City. Wilson also received a roll of barbed wire.

J. W. Walker, Springfield, Mo., today notified Becker of his prize by letter and suggested Becker could use the barbed wire in building up his political fences. He added that he hoped Becker would "not get stuck on the barbs." Walker said a Jefferson City lumber dealer would deliver the roll of barbed wire to Becker.

Shot, Says Robber Did It.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

BENTON, Ill., Sept. 1.—William Trout, 30 years old, of Benton, was in a serious condition in a hospital here today from bullet wounds suffered at Ashley, Ill., early this morning. Trout was on his way home here from Peoria, Ill., when he said, he was forced out of his automobile by five men who crowded his car off the road. When he stepped on the pavement he was shot once in the stomach and once in the back. Trout told police the men robbed him of $8.

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., Sept. 1.—An automobile last night ran down Mrs. Irene Daisy Jones, 20 years old, and her 2-year-old son, on the Paris road, two miles west of here, causing the death of both. The driver did not stop.

U. S. FARM BOARD REFUSES TO BUY ANY MORE COTTON

Announces Test Has Proved Futility of Purchases as Price Stabilizer—Further Cut in Wheat Acreage Urged.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1. — The Farm Board has abandoned the buying of cotton for price stabilization purposes because it was found after two years that the practice was not the remedy for the overproduction situation.

The announcement was made late yesterday by Acting Chairman Carl Williams, the board member for cotton. He said the agency was not considering "the purchase of cotton under any circumstances," because such practice was futile, in view of continued excessive outputs. The same idea, he said, applied to wheat, the price of which was depressed by increased production.

With the announcement on cotton, the board rejected the many suggestions by Southern Senators and growers that it continue the purchase of the staple to maintain prices. The announcement was made after a conference between Williams and members of the Cotton Advisory Committee, at which relief plans were discussed, including that to reduce acreage.

Asserting that for two years the board "cushioned the American farmer, particularly the raisers of cotton and wheat, against price declines that have affected other commodities and industries," Williams said, "the board has discovered" that purchasing of the commodities for price bolstering purposes "is not the remedy for the situation."

For the second successive day members of the Cotton Advisory Committee met today with Williams, to discuss the many problems confronting producers and handlers of the new crop. Cotton farmers and trade interests have urged the board to announce that it would not sell any of the 1,300,000 bales held by the stabilization corporation this year.

Williams said that the estimated 12 per cent reduction in the winter wheat acreage "was not enough."

As a means of further reducing the wheat acreage, Williams suggested that farmers living below the belt of 25-inch rainfall let half of their land lie idle this fall.

Williams said parts of Kansas and the Dakotas, the Texas Panhandle, New Mexico, Colorado, Wyoming and Montana were below the rainfall belt he mentioned.

SECRETARY HURLEY REACHES MANILA; 10,000 GREET HIM

Declares He Arrives With Open Mind to Study Conditions for the President.

By the Associated Press.

MANILA, Sept. 1. — Secretary of War Patrick J. Hurley arrived yesterday on the liner President Cleveland, and a crowd of 10,000 gave him a noisy welcome at the pier. In a statement concerning the purpose of his visit, the Secretary said:

"I bring to the Filipino people the greetings and best wishes of the President of the United States. By the direction of the President I have come to get a more definite understanding of the operation of your present system of government, also to secure first hand information concerning political, educational, social and economic conditions which now prevail.

"In providing myself with this information, I plan to visit not only the centers of population, but many remote communities. I will converse with the people themselves, as well as the chosen leaders. On facts established and history heretofore made, the administration at Washington will base its future policy in matters pertaining to the Philippines.

"I enter on my mission openmindedly and with a deep interest in the welfare and happiness of the Filipino people.

"Mrs. Hurley and I are happy to be among you, and appreciate and thank you for this cordial welcome."

SERVICE CARS TO OPERATE TILL 1 A. M. ON SOME ROUTES

Company Announces Night Schedule on Four Lines; Fare to Be 25 Cents.

Service cars will be operated on regular 10-minute schedules at night until 1 a. m., beginning this evening, on the Delmar, Page-Wellston and South Grand boulevard routes, it was announced today by the United Service Car Co. The fare will be 25 cents.

Seven cars also will be operated on the South Broadway route at the same fare but on irregular schedule. Other routes will be operated at night, it was said, if the demand is found sufficient. Twenty cars will be operated on the South Grand and Page-Wellston lines, and 15 on Delmar boulevard.

MISSING JAPANESE PAID $229,000 TO FOUR MEN

This Represented Three Months' Gambling Debts, Investigators Think.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—Belief that Hisashi Fujimura, millionnaire Japanese importer, who disappeared while on a cruise to Halifax, gambled away about $229,000 in slightly more than three months, is expressed by Federal authorities.

The investigators said they had determined Fujimura paid that amount to four men who lived in a Norwalk (Conn.) hotel shortly before the importer and Mrs. von Reibaner, his former showgirl companion, boarded the Belgenland for the Halifax journey with Fujimura's 7-year-old daughter.

They at first had thought the four men extorted the money from the Japanese and that the importer was slain when he refused to make further payments. However, they now say they believe the $229,000 represented the payment of gambling debts.

23 CONTRACTING FIRMS FORM NEW ORGANIZATION

Purpose Is to Protect Home Builder Against Inferior Workmanship, President Says.

The Association of Bonded Contractors of Missouri was organized last night at a meeting at which 23 contracting concerns took out memberships.

The purpose of the organization, as outlined by Frank Carter, 3233 California avenue, president, are to protect the home builder against inferior workmanship and materials. Under the plan, each member of the association will be bonded to guarantee compliance with the standards set down by the organization. The association, which is incorporated, will ultimately be composed of affiliated groups, each representing a phase of the building industry, according to the organization plan.

POLICE CHECKING 100 WOMEN WHO WROTE TO KILLER

Officials Firm in Conviction That Harry F. Powers Has Committed More Than Five Murders.

DIGGING CONTINUES AT CLARKSBURG, W. Va.

By the Associated Press.

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., Sept. 1.—Authorities are checking up on the more than 100 women known to have been in correspondence with Harry F. Powers—also known as Cornelius O. Pierson or Pearson—who has confessed to killing Mrs. Asta Buick Eicher and her three children of Park Ridge, Ill., and Mrs. Dorothea P. Lemke of Worcester, Mass. It is suspected there may have been other victims of the 42-year-old "student of scientific crime."

He got the names of his many correspondents from correspondence clubs, posing as a lonely civil engineer matrimonially inclined.

In Detroit, headquarters of one of the agencies he used, records were sought for further clews.

The search for more bodies that the authorities said may have been buried on the farm was abandoned late today and Sheriff W. B. Grimm announced there would be no more digging pending further investigation of the correspondence Powers carried on with women.

County officers found a board fence erected along the highway in front of the farm at Quiet Dell when they went there this morning, and a man was selling tickets at the gate. An enterprising man had expected to profit from the curious who have thronged to the place since the bodies were found there. Twenty-five cents was charged for admission of adults and 15 cents for children. The workmen at the farm said they were hired by a man named Kidwell, and the fence was completed at 4 p. m. today.

Powers' wife said she had leased the property for a year for $50. Cecil B. Kester with the consent of the Chief of Police. The Sheriff stopped the ticket sale.

Judge John E. Southern announced today there would be a special session of the grand jury to hear charges against Powers. Judge Southern announced Powers' case would be laid before the regular session of the grand jury when Circuit Court convenes Nov. 1.

Pistols and Pictures in Trunk.

A trunk containing several revolvers, 50 photographs of women marked with their addresses, a book containing the birth dates of 100 persons was found today at Powers' farm.

One of the photographs bore the name of Mrs. Maude L. Johns of Fairfield, Ill. A card from Oakland, Cal., was addressed to "Dearest Harry." An ancient firearm was among the collection in the trunk.

City Detective Carl Southern announced receipt of word from Washington police that Powers' description tallied with that of a suspect in the killing of Miss Myra Baker two years ago. Inquiries in that case followed a suggestion from a Washington resident that Powers, reluctant about telling when he was in Washington, might be the slayer. Miss Baker was a Navy Department employe.

Three at Lodging House.

Learning a man and two women were at a tourists' lodging house the night of last July 4 and 5, and that a servant had identified them as Powers, Mrs. Eicher and Lemke, a city detective went to the house, owned by Frederick, to investigate. The man and two women were identified by the servant employed by Ott by means of photograph of Powers and the slain women.

The servant said that some time before the killing of the women was disclosed she had told her employer of the visitors, that the women "seemed greatly depressed" and that one of them was concerned about her three children whom she said she left with a nurse in Chicago. Police say Mrs. Eicher left her children while she came here with Powers. The domestic quoted the woman as saying, "Please pray for us."

The three persons were asked to seek quarters elsewhere the following day because the man became disorderly, apparently having been drinking, the woman said.

Photographs of Mrs. Lemke and Powers are in the possession of authorities, having been developed from the same roll of films found in a small box camera. Officers said the pictures apparently were taken near here while the woman was being brought to Clarksburg from Northboro, Mass.

When photographed, Mrs. Lemke was clad in the same dress she wore the same jewelry she had on when her body was found by a boy near Quiet Dell. The woman was smiling.

Powers, too, was smiling as he posed for the photographs. However, the woman apparently had

Photographs of Mrs. Lemke and Powers are in the possession of authorities, having been developed from the same roll of films found in a small box camera. Officers said the pictures apparently were taken near here while the woman was being brought to Clarksburg from Northboro, Mass.

When photographed, Mrs. Lemke was clad in the same dress and wore the same jewelry she had on when her body was found buried near Quiet Dell. The woman was smiling.

Powers, too, was smiling as he posed for the photographs. He and the woman apparently had taken turns at photographing each other along a highway and on a rocky prominence overlooking a body of water.

Met Wife by Mail, Police Say.

Police had in their possession letters which they said indicated that Powers met his wife through "mail order" methods, although the woman has denied she met her husband by such an agency. One letter that police said was written by Mrs. Powers was addressed to Harry Powers, Crestline, O., and was dated June 26, 1926.

"I don't think it's any harm to get acquainted by this method, as I would rather find my true love in this way as I don't care for any of the Clarksburg men," the letter said. A description of the writer, which was contained in the letter, was the same as that of Mrs. Powers, police said.

Investigation disclosed Powers married the woman June 1, 1927, in Oakland, Md. Officials learned the license bore the name of Harry Frederick Powers, 42, civil engineer, Cedar Rapids, Ia.

Mrs. Lemke Thought to Have Had $4287 With Her.

By the Associated Press.

WORCESTER, Mass., Sept. 1.—Withdrawal July 28 of $2754 from the Worcester County Institution for Savings by Mrs. Dorothea Pressler Lemke, victim of Harry F. Powers of Clarksburg, W. Va., was discovered today.

This amount, with the $1533 which it was learned yesterday was withdrawn from the Worcester Mechanics Savings Bank, swells to $4287 the fund which it is thought the woman had in her possession when she went to Clarksburg.

Investigation of Friendship Society Ordered by Governor.

By the Associated Press.

LANSING, Mich., Sept. 1.—An investigation of the American Friendship Society of Detroit, through which Harry F. Powers is alleged to have communicated with the women he murdered, was ordered by Gov. William M. Brucker today. The alleged matrimonial agency is incorporated as a non-profit corporation in Michigan. The Governor instructed Joseph A. Gillis, Assistant Attorney-General, to take whatever action is necessary if the enterprise is illegal.

The Prosecutor's office announced today that investigators are checking the names of 50 Detroit women, listed in the files of the American Friendship Society, from which Harry F. Powers obtained the names of his victims, to determine whether any are missing.

The list of 1200 names was surrendered by Albert B. Plater and his wife, Olga, operators of the society which has its headquarters in Detroit. Investigators said three stenographers were kept busy at the society's offices answering requests for names of correspondents.

Records of the society disclosed that Powers joined the organization Jan. 12, 1931, under the name of Cornelius O. Pierson and received four monthly lists containing the names of 1200 women. Fifty resided in Detroit.

Only One Cent in Mrs. Eicher's Safety Deposit Box.

CHICAGO, Sept. 1. — Harry F. Powers was gambling for small stakes when he killed Mrs. Asta Eicher of Park Ridge and her three children. Her safety deposit box in the Park Ridge State Bank, opened yesterday, showed, aside from evidence of debt, only one cent. She owned her home, which might have been worth $12,000 in a good market, real estate men said, but there were mortgages for $7000 on it. She had $3.84 in a checking account in the bank, and her children had $42 in a savings account. Mrs. Eicher's checking account had dwindled steadily since 1926, when there was $10,000 on deposit.

ST. LOUIS WOMAN WROTE TO SLAYER

She Got Harry F. Powers' Name From Detroit Agency.

The desire of a St. Louis stenographer to "have a little fun" led her to write to a man described by a Detroit agency as "a wealthy widower worth $150,000," but whom she learned Sunday was Harry F. Powers, also known as C. O. Pierson, confessed murderer of two women and three children in Clarksburg, W. Va.

The stenographer, who is 32 years old said she had written to "Pierson" twice, without disclosing her financial condition, but had received no response. Powers is known to have carried on correspondence with many women through the agency.

"Just as a joke, a friend gave me the lists of a Detroit 'friendship society' last month," she explained. "I said I wasn't interested but I did take the lists home and read them over. I decided to have a little fun and joined the society by paying $1 for a six-month membership.

"They sent me the July lists and of course the first one I picked out—the one at the head of the list—had to turn out to be a lemon. The list described a certain member as a wealthy widower with an income of $400 to $3000 a month. It said he was a fine looking gentleman of 38, a civil engineer, whose business enterprises prevented him from meeting the right kind of ladies.

"It said his wife must be a 'one-man woman,' but that she would have her own car, plenty of spending money, and nothing to do but enjoy herself. I didn't care to get married so much, but it did sound as though he were a substantial and cultured gentleman.

"I wrote a very business-like letter to 'C. O. Pierson,' the name given in the key list, and when he didn't answer after several weeks I wrote again asking if he hadn't liked my description. Then Sunday I read about him in the newspaper."

The "friendship society" furnishes to members monthly lists descriptive of members of the opposite sex, grouped according to age. The descriptions dwell particularly on the financial status of persons listed but is careful to suggest that subscribers do not write only to rich members.

Each description is by number. After the subscriber, however, has had an opportunity to read of the many lonely persons of substantial means who desire correspondence with others, he or she receives a key list furnishing the name and address of the numbered person.

The list sent the St. Louis woman bore the following heading: "We have personally studied and selected a few gentlemen (out of the hundreds in this month's list) that we thought would especially interest you. Don't throw away any descriptions—ONE may be your IDEAL."

MRS. L. S. DAY GETS DIVORCE

Charges Realty Dealer Failed to Support Her Adequately.

Mrs. Mary W. Day, 7 Wydown terrace, Clayton, obtained a divorce in Clayton today from L. Sturgis Day, secretary-treasurer of the Fletcher R. Harris Realty Co.

She testified that her husband had failed to support her adequately and was cold and indifferent. They were married in 1928 and separated recently.

FARMERS SEIZE MILK TRUCKS AND DUMP 6000 GALS.

Pevely Carriers Halted When They Pass St. Jacob, Ill., Hall Just as Meeting Is Adjourning.

Nearly 6000 gallons of milk was dumped yesterday when two tank trucks with trailers passed the Community Hall in St. Jacob, Ill., as hundreds of dairy farmers left the hall after voting to withhold milk from the Pevely Dairy Co.

One truck was taken peaceably outside the town, which is on Highway No. 40 near Highland. The driver of the second truck speeded up and was pursued for a few miles, stopping when, it was reported, a monkey wrench was thrown through the windshield.

The milk, it was estimated at Pevely Dairy Co., was worth a little less than $1000. D. C. Kerckhoff, president of the concern, could not be reached.

22 Men Arrested on Bridge.

St. Louis police, notified at noon today that five automobiles were following two tank trucks, guarded by Illinois highway police, met the truck at Free Bridge and arrested 22 men "on suspicion." Chief Gerk made a statement in which he said, in part, that the men following the truck seemed to have been waiting for the highway police to leave it when it entered Missouri, and that no "hoodlumism" would occur on this side.

The vote to withhold milk was the culmination of a disagreement which began a year ago when Pevely Dairy Co. declined to join with other large distributers in a co-operative marketing agreement with the Sanitary Milk Producers, worked out in consultation with the Consumers' Milk Commission.

The immediate cause, officers of the dairy farmers' organization said today, was a new producers' contract offered by Pevely Dairy Co. Old contracts of about 900 shippers in the Effingham district expired yesterday. The old contract provided payment at prevailing prices, while the new included a provision that "marketing plans" were not to be considered in determining the "prevailing price."

Essentially, said D. A. Lynch, manager of the producers' organization, the provision meant that the distributer was free to fix his own prevailing price, since that concern was the only large one which did not purchase by the marketing plan inaugurated last year.

"A Vicious Contract."

Lynch declared the organization was vigorously opposed to violence. He said the strike vote was taken only after the St. Louis market and the contract had been studied by a committee of the National Co-operative Milk Producers' Federation, which reported:

"The committee has no hesitancy in pronouncing this a vicious contract. It is equivalent to bondage. It leaves entirely in the hands of the distributer the question of price and binds the producer for at least a year to deliver all his milk no matter what price is paid. Also, if the helpless producer should fail to cancel the contract before a certain date, it is automatically self-renewing for another year."

Current prices under the marketing plan are $2.15 a hundredweight for "basic" or bottle milk, and about $1 a hundredweight for surplus milk, which goes into manufactured products. Pevely pays a flat rate for all milk, now $1.60 a hundredweight or 3.4 cents a quart. Lynch said that this distributer had considerably overbid the co-operating dealers last fall, but since January had paid a few cents less than than others.

Pevely Reduces Price.

Retail prices were reduced, effective today, to 11 cents a quart by the Pevely company, followed by the other dairies. Pints remain at 7 cents, to which they were reduced several months ago from 8 cents, when the quarts were cut from 13 to 12 cents. The retail price decline may be reflected in the price paid producers, although the producers' strike against Pevely and several smaller dairies which refused to enter the co-operative agreement will, obviously, have its effect on the supply available for St. Louis.

Members of the organization from all its 15 Illinois and five Missouri counties occupied all the 960 seats in the St. Jacob Community Hall, while hundreds stood in the aisles and outside. Officers said the organization had 9000 members, of whom about 2500, and some 2000 nonmembers, shipped to the Pevely company.

While officers of the association declared they would vigorously discourage violent methods of keeping milk from the dealer, the members voted to urge non-members to refuse to ship to that concern under the new contract.

Several minor disturbances, however, were reported. Two farmers near Marine, Ill., said stones were thrown at their milk trucks, and another near Highland telephoned to the Sheriff's office that several cans of milk had been dumped from the highway shipping platform where he placed it to await collection.

Sheriff Erlinger of Clinton County provided a guard of deputies for Pevely trucks, escorted also by Illinois State highway police, they passed through the county without molestation. Milk trucks entering Illinois today carred each an extra unarmed man.

MOVIE THEATER OWNERS WANT GANGSTER FILMS ELIMINATED

Vote Taken at Meeting Held to Protest Against Extravagance of Hollywood.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—The motion Picture Theater Owners of America voted unanimously today to petition movie makers to abandon the production of "gangster pictures and indecent pictures." The theater owners together with the Allied States Exhibitors' Association, are meeting to protest against "the extravagance of Hollywood."

Mrs. Lindbergh the Guest No. 1 at Tokio Banquet

Crowds Husband Out of Spotlight at Premier's Dinner "for Dwight W. Morrow's Daughter."

By the Associated Press.

TOKIO, Sept. 1.—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh lost the spotlight to his wife here last night. He commented on it. The occasion was the brilliant dinner given by Reijiro Wakatsuki, Premier of Japan, to the Lindberghs, bringing to an end the ambitious round of social functions in honor of the flyers.

To begin with, the invitations were phrased so Mrs. Lindbergh came first. Wakatsuki gave the dinner to "the daughter of my friend, Dwight W. Morrow, and her husband."

During the evening, when Cabinet members and their wives and other distinguished guests gathered around Mrs. Lindbergh, the Colonel remarked: "She's the belle of the ball—no doubt about that." Later he again agreed that "it was Anne's party, all right."

The affair was described as one of the most brilliant in Tokio in many years.

Lindbergh apparently enjoyed getting out of the spotlight. With Premier Wakatsuki, he and other guests who are acquainted with Senator Morrow made the former Ambassador to Mexico the topic of their conversation. As Wakatsuki declared in introducing the Lindberghs to the Japanese guests, most of those present knew the Senator in London, New York or Paris.

Wakatsuki, who emphasized his great admiration for Mrs. Lindbergh's father, met Morrow in London during the naval conference last year, at which they both were delegates of their respective countries.

Mrs. Lindbergh answered many questions concerning her parents, what her father thought of the Oriental tour, whether they had had word of their son, who is with his grandparents, and many other details.

Lindberghs Arrive at Ambassador Forbes' Summer Home.

By the Associated Press.

KARUIZAWA, Japan, Sept. 1.—Beginning a fortnight of sightseeing in Japan, Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh came to Karuizawa today and established themselves in the summer home of W. Cameron Forbes, American Ambassador.

They came from Tokio by automobile after having been entertained there for five days at official functions. It was a bumpy trip over nearly 100 miles of mountain roads—so rough that Forbes and Mrs. James Russell, the embassy hostess, went by train. The Lindberghs wanted to do some sightseeing and chose the motor route.

The Lindberghs were accompanied by Lieut. and Mrs. Thomas Cranford, the Lieutenant being an embassy attache. The four stopped for lunch at a mountain inn.

As soon as they arrived, Col. and Mrs. Lindbergh began looking for Mount Asama, Japan's busiest volcano, which dominates the Karuizawa scenery, but a heavy mist had settled over the district and the erupting peak was not visible. Townspeople assured the Lindberghs they would get a good view of the volcano tomorrow.

Mrs. Lindbergh on Stroll.

Mrs. Lindbergh and Mrs. Cranford strolled through the streets without attracting any more attention than other summer visitors. Mrs. Lindbergh went in for buying postcards, particularly views of the volcano.

The Colonel spent several hours lounging about the Forbes house and reading technical magazines which he had brought with him.

A brook meanders through the 10-acre plot comprising the Forbes place.

There will be few social functions for the Lindberghs here and they will get some opportunity to rest before proceeding to Nikko, renowned site of the Tokugawa shrines. These shrines were erected in memory of a family of Shoguns, or feudal lords, of that name who ruled Japan for 200 years.

From Nikko the Lindberghs will go to the ancient capitals of Nara and Kyoto. From Tokio they will fly later to Nagasaki, Japan, and then leave for Nanking, Nationalist capital of China.

ST. LOUIS WOMAN DECOY FOR ROBBER GANG PLEADS GUILTY

CINCINNATI, O., Sept. 1.—Mrs. Doris Baldwin, alias Doris Larue, St. Louis, alleged decoy for a robber gang, late today interrupted her trial and pleaded guilty of assault with intent to rob.

Judge Samuel S. Bell said he would defer sentence until completion of the trial of Virginia Partee, alias Hatfield, Newport, Ky., also charged with robbery and tried jointly with Mrs. Baldwin.

Previous to her guilty plea Mrs. Baldwin said she was only a bystander and did not participate in the robberies which occurred after the women invited men to ride with them.

MUSICIANS, THEATERS MOVE PARLEY TO EAST

New Wage Agreement Taken Up—47 Players Who Did No Work Lose Jobs.

Refusal of the St. Louis Amusement Co., operating a chain of neighborhood theaters, to re-employ 47 musicians is one reason for the failure of the Musicians' Union and theater managers to reach a new wage agreement to replace a contract, which expired last night.

Following a conference today, the union wage committee decided to transfer further negotiations to New York, headquarters for the national theatrical organizations controlling St. Louis theaters.

L. J. Hill, general manager of the St. Louis Amusement Co., said the 47 orchestra men would not be re-employed. The old contract covering musicians in the larger motion picture theaters has been extended pending further negotiations. The wage committee plans to go East within several days.

It was brought out recently in receivership proceedings that the 47 orchestra men, who were signed up last November, were no longer required, due to the installation of sound devices in the neighborhood houses. For the greater part of their contract period the musicians did nothing but report at the theaters.

With the 47 men, who drew salaries under the contract with the St. Louis Amusement Co., eliminated, there are remaining about 60 musicians in the larger shows. The wage discussion does not involve the Shubert-Rialto and American theaters, which have holdover contracts.

AIRPLANE FOLLOWS PIGEON THAT CARRIED RANSOM NOTE

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—A pigeon, sent through the mails to former Judge Edgar F. Hazelton or Northport, L. I., with instructions to tie $25,000 to its leg and release it, if he wanted to see his son, Edgar Jr., again, was traced to a Flushing coop yesterday by a police airplane.

Police released the pigeon while two planes hovered overhead ready to follow it. One plane lost it, but the other pilot saw the pigeon alight at a pigeon coop.

He dropped a parachute with directions and detectives raced to a house on Queens boulevard, which they surrounded. They found the pigeon.

The owner, Charles Kofernack, said he rented the coop to a young man with a green automobile. Neighbors confirmed the story. A guard was set today to await the return of the pigeon fancier. Edgar Hazelton Jr., 14, has been missing for a week.

Constance Bennett Back in U. S.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—Constance Bennett, movie actress, returned from France on the liner Paris today, with the Marquis de la Falaise de la Coudray. Asked if they would be married in December, the Marquis, who is awaiting a final decree of divorce from Gloria Swanson, said: "It is customary for the lady to set the date." Miss Bennett said her losses at Monte Carlo were heavier than she would have liked.

JONES WINS ILLINOIS SUPREME COURT RACE

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

VANDALIA, Ill., Sept. 1.—Judge Norman L. Jones, Democrat of Carrollton, was elected justice of the Illinois Supreme Court in a special election in the Second Judicial District yesterday by more than 20,000 votes over his Republican opponent, Harold S. Williams of Taylorville. Clay County, the former home of Williams, and Christian County, Williams' present home, were the only counties out of the 21 in the Second Judicial District not carried by Jones.

In 548 precents out of 58 Jones had 45,057 votes to 25,682 for Williams.

Judge Jones' home county, Greene, gave him a majority of 3872. The vote in Greene County was: Jones, 4434; Williams, 562. Madison County, the largest in the district, was carried by Judge Jones by a margin of more than two to one, the vote in 87 of 88 precincts being: Jones, 9646; Williams, 4282.

Judge Jones will succeed the late Judge William M. Farmer, who died last Friday, and whose recent resignation made the special election necessary. Judge Farmer's funeral was held here today.

In a telegram to Judge Jones, Williams said: "Please accept my congratulations. I have the pleasure of having been defeated by an able and distinguished opponent."

Judge Jones has long figured prominently in public life. A native of Greene County, he comes of pioneer stock tracing back as far as territorial days in Illinois. He was born in 1870, second in a family of five children.

When 21 year sold he was elected to the Legislature in 1892 where he served two terms. He was admited to the bar in 1896. He was elected to the Circuit Court of the Seventh Judicial Circuit in 1914 and re-elected three times. In 1921 the Supreme Court assigned him to the Second District Appellate Court at Ottawa, where he has served since.

In 1924 running on a platform of tax reduction, Judge Jones won the Democratic nomination for Governor. Although defeated in the election he ran almost a million votes ahead of the party ticket.

FARM BOARD COSTLY LEMON, SAYS PINCHOT

Pennsylvania Governor at Sedalia Urges Economic Equality for Agriculture.

By the Associated Press.

SEDALIA, Mo., Sept. 1.—Condemning the manner in which steps have been taken to bring relief to the American farmer, Gov. Gifford Pinchot of Pennsylvania urged that the farm industry "be placed on a basis of economic equality with other industries," in an address here today before the convention of the Missouri Farmers' Association.

Pinchot assailed the Federal Farm Board, terming it "that huge and costly lemon," and said the farmer, "for years the orphan child of American politics, should be taken into the family and have a voice" as to what type of relief, or solution of the agricultural problem should be attempted. He criticised the present tariff as detrimental to the farmer, said he thought the proposed equalization fee was good and thought the debenture plan "unquestionably has its merits," but said "the real question was whether the farmer is to be given justice as the farmer himself understands justice."

Pinchot criticised the railroads for seeking to increase freight rates at a time when the farmer, a chief shipper, already is overburdened, and condemned the present distribution of farm products, the cost of which, he said, "is today twice as high as it was before the World War.

Pinchot, commenting on the tariff, said, "I am a protectionist—I believe in a tariff. But the kind of tariff I believe in is one whose good effects appear not only in the profits of capital and in the wages of labor, but also in the returns of the farmer.

BODY OF FLYER RECOVERED

By the Associated Press.

HAMILTON, Bermuda, Sept. 1.—The body of Cyril Nelmes, owner of a plane which crashed in Grassy Bay near here yesterday, was found in the upturned fuselage after the plane had been towed to its hangar on Hinson's Island.

John Runger, New York, who also was in the plane, was taken out of the water and is reported to be suffering from severe shock, but progressing favorably at the hospital. Nelmes was stunting above a tender on the way to take passengers off the liner Franconia when the plane suddenly shot into the water. W. O. Murthie, Stockbridge, Mass., the second passenger in the plane, was picked up unconscious and taken to a hospital.

DEAF MUTE, INJURED WHEN HIT BY AUTOMOBILE, DIES

Driver Says Accident in East St. Louis Occurred When Man Stepped in Front of Car.

William Williams, 57-year-old deaf mute, 523A Illinois avenue, East St. Louis, died yesterday at St. Mary's Hospital, East St. Louis, of injuries suffered Sunday night when he was struck by an automobile at Eighth and State streets. He suffered internal injuries and a fracture of the right leg.

BOYS SEE FATHER DROWN

Widow Says He Had Threatened to End His Life.

Two small boys told police yesterday they watched their father, Edward Adams, a 50-year-old cigarmaker, 1817A (rear) Menard street, disappear while swimming in the Mississippi River.

The boys, Carl, 7, and Edward, 6, informed police of the disappearance at 6:30 p. m. after waiting from about 1 p. m., hoping their father would reappear. Police found his clothing at the foot of Menard street. They reported his widow said he threatened several times to kill himself.

COUNTY SCHOOL ROW RESULTS IN STABBING

New Douglas, Ill., Farmer Whose Wife Got Job, Cut by Ex-Teacher's Brother.

Hampton Tabor, farmer and director of the Pisgah School, near New Douglas, Ill., was stabbed in the groin and seriously wounded last night in a fight over appointment of his wife as teacher for the 1931-32 term.

Taken to a hospital at Litchfield, Tabor said he had been stabbed by George Bilyeu, Jr., also a school director and brother of the teacher whom Mrs. Tabor replaced.

Bilyeu, reached by telephone, declined to discuss the affair. Asked if Tabor's statement about the stabbing was correct, he replied, "I suppose it is."

Bilyeu has been a school director for several years. Tabor was elected to the board last April and won the support of George Bauer, the third member. When the time came to vote on a new teacher, Taber and Bauer voted for Mrs. Tabor. Bilyeu, as usual, voted for Miss Nellie Bilyeu.

Last night, at a meeting to decide routine school matters, ill feeling between the men developed into a fight.

CRAIN IS EXONERATED IN NEW YORK INQUIRY

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—Thomas C. T. Crain, Tammany District Attorney of New York County, today stood cleared of charges of incompetency in office.

Gov. Roosevelt yesterday dismissed allegations preferred by the City Club last March. The Governor acted after receiving recommendations of Samuel Seabury, anti-Tammany Democrat, whom he appointed a commissioner to investigate. Seabury is counsel for the legislative committee which is investigating the city government. The investigation of Crain started before the legislative committee organized.

Seabury dismussed 23 of 27 specifications and sustained four, but found there had been no proof of personal dishonesty or gross incompetence to warrant dismissal of an elected official.

Crain, who is 71 years old and a Sachem of the Tammany Society, was a selection of John F. Curry, leader of Tammany Hall. Tammany did not conceal its pleasure over Seabury's findings, but Samuel Untermyer, Crain's counsel, said he would ask Gov. Roosevelt for a public hearing in order to obtain full vindication.

Seabury found that Crain had been lax in investigating magistrates' courts, racketeering and two cases of stock frauds.

"Truth," wrote Seabury, "compels the conclusion that in many instances he busied himself ineffectively. His failure was not due to any lack of personal effort or any ignoble motive."

Seabury praised Crain as one with "a distinguished public career" and "the reputation of a scholarly gentleman of unimpeachable character."

In discussing the charges about magistrates' courts, Seabury referred to scandalous conditions involving framing of women and corruption of policemen which were uncovered in an inquiry under the auspices of the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court. Seabury was referee at that inquiry.

FOR RESEARCH INTO ORIGIN OF MAN IN THE AMERICAS

Anthropological Laboratory at Santa Fe, Sponsored by J. D. Rockefeller Jr. to Be Opened Tonight.

By the Associated Press.

SANTA FE, N. M., Sept. 1.—Research into man's origin and development in the Americas will be centered in a new scientific workshop to be opened formally here tonight. It is the laboratory of anthropology, sponsored by John D. Rockefeller Jr., from which expeditions in North, South and Central America will be directed to study vanished races or still existing peoples of ancient origin.

The laboratory is the only institution of its kind in the United States where scientists, regardless of their organization affiliation, may work individually or in collaboration with each other in anthropological research.

MILLERS PROTEST AGAINST BRAZIL'S FLOUR EMBARGO

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1.—American millers answered Brazil's 18-month embargo on flour imports yesterday by laying a protest before the State Department.

The Brazilian embargo is designed to protect millers in that country who will purchase some of the 25,000,000 bushels of wheat Brazil will get from the United States Farm Board in exchange for 1,050,000 bags of coffee.

Herman Fakler, representive of the Millers' National Federation, protested against the Brazilian deal to both the State Department and the Farm Board. The former indicated the Fakler objection probably could not be transmitted to Brazil as the embargo resulted from the Farm Board transaction. Some officials, however, indicated Brazil might be asked to except from the embargo flour already on the way or ready for shipment.

Fakler told the Farm Board flour should have been included in negotiations on the coffee-wheat deal, which was undertaken in an effort to reduce surpluses in both countries. The Farm Board controls about 200,000,000 bushels of wheat.

Will Cut Off Sale of 200,000 Tons of U. S. Wheat Flour.

By the Associated Press.

RIO DE JANEIRO, Sept. 1. — Suspension of wheat flour imports into Brazil for 18 months is expected by experts to mean that Brazil will refrain from buying nearly 200,000 tons of wheat flour from the United States and Argentina during that period.

The 18-month prohibition of wheat flour importation is an amendment to the decree authorizing the exchange of coffee for United States wheat.

Argentine wheat flour sells as far north as Rio de Janeiro while United States flour has a market in northern Brazil. Flour imports from the United States during the past calendar year were 74,000 tons, about half the total flour imports.

In addition to relieving Brazil of the necessity of sending money abroad to buy flour, the suspension of importation is expected to increase wheat acreage in Brazil.

DEPARTMENT GIVES AUTO TO UNOFFICIAL FIREMAN

Equips W. W. Thompson, Who Has Attended 10,000 Fires in 35 Years, With Car and Siren.

Firemen have given a new red automobile, equipped with siren and bell, to William W. Thompson, who never has had any official connection with the Fire Department, although he has been going to fires for 35 years.

The presentation was made yesterday by Director of Public Safety Steininger at the Municipal Theater. About 500 firemen attended.

For many years Thompson was construction supervisor for the Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. and began going to fires to protect the equipment of that company. In time he became recognized as a handy man to have around during a fire. It was his duty to cut high-tension electric wires which add to the hazards of firemen. He invented a device which enables firemen to plug into electric circuits without difficulty and so obtain current to operate searchlights in dark parts of burning buildings.

Last July he retired at the age of 65, after 52 years with the telephone company, but that did not interrupt his unofficial connection with the Fire Department. In his home at 5130 Lotus avenue there is a fire alarm signal box, and he still responds to alarms. He estimates he has attended nearly 10,000 fires.

ESCAPED CONVICT CAUGHT IN HOLDUP ADMITS 10 OTHERS

Claude Hemphill, 26, Accused in Two Warrants as Robber and Fugitive From Justice.

Following his arrest two hours after holding up an Overland chain grocery yesterday, Claude Hemphill, 26-year-old escaped convict, admitted nine other recent store and street car robberies in St. Louis and St. Louis County.

Hemphill, who ran away from a labor gang at the State Penitentiary last Dec. 19, was arrested at his home in South Kinloch Park. Three Negroes who had borrowed the stolen automobile he used, were stopped by police who recognized the licence number as that on the robber's car as reported by passersby.

The victim of yesterday's holdup is Louis Fetsch, manager of a Piggly-Wiggly store at 8138 South avenue, where $35 was stolen. A warrant charging robbery was issued at Clayton on Fetsch's affidavit and also a fugitive warrant based on Hemphill's escape from prison. Hemphill was serving a 10-year term for stealing an automobile and carrying a revolver. He pleaded guilty in St. Louis in July, 1930. Before his conviction he had admitted six robberies in city and county.

Hemphill, who has served two terms at Leavenworth penitentiary for violation of the Dyer act, admitted the following holdups during the last two months to Sheriff Lill: Piggly-Wiggely store, Normandy, $70; Florissant stret car, $5; Kroger stores at 6417 Grove avenue, Pine Lawn, $50; Lackland road, Overland, $18; 2512 Sutton avenue, Maplewood, $25; 9402 St. Charles road, $30; 1129 McCausland avenue, $38, and 6711 Olive Street boulevard, University City, $25.

Three Robbers Get $150 in Holdup at Fairmont Hotel.

Three men, one with a revolver, entered the lobby of the Fairmont Hotel, 4907 Maryland avenue, at 5 o'clock this morning, and held up Homer L. Bradford, the night clerk, who was alone. Taking $150 from a cash drawer and a suit of clothes hanging in an anteroom, they departed in an automobile.

Police, furnished with a description of an automobile in which two youths escaped after snatching a purse from Mrs. Anna Brendel, 5349 Union boulevard, at Laurel and Easton avenues yesterday, later arrested two young men, who admitted the robbery.

The prisoners had $1.50, some trading stamps and a key belonging to Mrs. Brendel in their possession, and directed police to a vacant lot where they had thrown away the purse, which was recovered.

Abe Goldberg, a guest at the McKinley Hotel, knocked a pistol from the hand of a Negro robber last midnight, but was struck on the head with a revolver by a second Negro, who took $10 from Goldberg and fled with his companion. The holdup occurred at Thirteenth and Gay streets.

William Degan, 1818 Wagoner place, driving in Easton avenue, near Kingshighway, last night, was crowded to the curb by two men in an automobile, who robbed him of $3.

BOMB THAT PIERCES ARMAMENT

New Incendiary Device Developed by Washington Mechanic.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1.—Plans and specifications for a small incendiary bomb designed to pierce armament have been presented to the Army Ordnance Department by John W. Currell, who gave the United States the aerial explosive bomb now in use.

Currell, a Washington mechanic, who formerly served in the Marine Corps and Navy, also invented the tracer projectile and other devices. All his inventions have been contributed without compensation. His new bomb weighs two pounds and is six and one-half inches long. Filled with an incendiary compound ignited by a detonator set off by impact, the projectile contains a timing device to permit the bomb to pierce a target before exploding.

THREE LOST IN BLIZZARD SAVED

Four Other Students Missing in New Zealand Located.

By the Associated Press.

WELLINGTON, New Zealand, Sept. 1.—Three students lost in a blizzard on Mount Ruapehu have been rescued and four others in the party have been located. A force of 200 men is working to bring them in.

The students, members of a party of 14 from Auckland University, who ascended the mountain slopes Saturday, missed their way in the storm. One group of seven arrived safely yesterday, but the other section lost their bearings a second time.

GAS DEATH IN BARBER SHOP

Proprietor Found on Floor in Place at 1507 Hamilton.

Louis Selz, 58 years old, was found dead on the floor of his barber shop at 1507 Hamilton avenue at 9 o'clock today by police investigating a report of neighbors who smelled gas.

Police found a gas heater turned on and unlighted. An inhalator squad worked for an hour in an unsuccessful attempt to revive him. The body was taken to the Morgue pending an inquest. Selz is survived by his widow. They lived at 5905A Easton avenue.

ANCHOR COAL CO.

Believes that to allow a cash discount for payment within ten days, the same as for pay on delivery, is discriminating against those who from preference or stress of circumstances pay on delivery, therefore have dropped the 50c per ton cash discount on all soft coals and will quote a net price for pay on delivery only. AUGUST WEATHER WAS NORMAL HERE

Sharp Contrast to Month Year Ago; Rainfall Above Average.

While temperatures for August were approximately normal, days and nights growing cooler as the month progressed, St. Louis enjoyed rare weather in comparison with August of 1930. The average for the month was 77.2 degrees, a fraction cooler than normal, with the thermometer reaching 100 on only one day, while for the same month last year the average was 80.4, six days showing readings of 100 or above.

This year's high temperature for August was on the eighth. On the fourth last year the reading was 105, one degree less than the August record of 106 in 1881.

Along with cooler weather came rainy days—there were 16 of them and the precipitation of 3.46 inches was nearly half an inch above normal. Last year six slight rains yielded only a quarter of an inch. However, figures on "summer rainfall" (June, July and August), compiled by the Weather Bureau, show a total precipitation of 9.5 inches, .29 less than normal. Last summer's rainfall was only 3.16, or 6.63 inches less than normal.

Despite the fairly average rainfall this summer, it has been too slight to bring the river to a normal stage, yesterday's reading of —0.4 feet being a record low for August. Normal stage is 11.3 feet, the average for the month was 0.6 and for August, 1930, 2.3. The river's low stage is explained by the greater absorption of moisture by the soil throughout last year's drouth areas. Unless precipitation is unusually heavy in coming months, the river will remain low for another year, Weather Forecaster Nunn said.

RICHARD T. RINGLING DIES; MEMBER OF CIRCUS FAMILY

Operator of Sheep and Cattle Ranches Suffers Heart Attack at Montana Home.

By the Associated Press.

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, Mont., Sept. 1.—Richard T. Ringling, 36 years old, a son of the late Alfred T. Ringling, one of the famous circus men, died of a heart attack at his home here yesterday.

Ringling operated sheep and cattle ranches. He owned large tracts of land in Montana and Florida. He was born at Baraboo, Wis. He lived in New York City and Oak Ridge, N. J., before taking his own circus on the road in 1915. He came here in 1916 and purchased a large ranch from his uncle, John Ringling. He later acquired 180,000 acres of land here and in the upper Madison Valley.

He and Miss Aubrey Black, daughter of a lawyer here, were married in 1918. The widow and three children and a sister, Marjorie Ringling, survive.

NEW PLANE SAFETY DEVICE

Supports Land Craft Automatically When Down at Sea.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1. — The Navy is developing a device by which land planes will be supported automatically on the water when forced down at sea.

With the flotation gear now used on Navy planes it is necessary for the pilot to pull a release valve to inflate the supporting bags. The new device consists of a valve which will operate automatically through pressure of water on a diaphragm.

BURNING TREE FALLS ON MAN, 14TH FOREST FIRE FATALITY

By the Associated Press.

MISSOULA, Mont., Sept. 1.—With 14 men dead and an army of 3200 in the field, Montana, Northern Idaho and Eastern Washington today carried on their fight against flames which have devastated Northwestern forests for weeks.

Ray Helm, Minneapolis, was the fourteenth man to die in the fight against the flames. He was killed yesterday when a burning tree fell on him as he labored with a fire fighting crew near Plains, Mont.

Conditions were reported generally improved in the fire swept Boise and Idaho national forests and National Guardsmen were detailed to conduct fire fighters out of the wooded sections.

ILLINOIS CENTRAL SYSTEM — COURTESY EFFICIENT SERVICE ALWAYS

Crisis in Railway Revenue

This statement marks the beginning of the twelfth consecutive year in which there has appeared each month in the advertising columns of the newspapers a message from the president of the Illinois Central System presenting some railway subject of current interest. The series began September 1, 1920; this is message No. 133.

Much railway history has been made in the last eleven years. When these informative discussions were undertaken, the railroads were just being released from war-time government control, and there was a serious shortage of transportation. Under the stimulus of the newly formed Transportation Act and its support by the public, however, that emergency was safely passed.

Now the railroads face another crisis. Revenue losses imperil their credit. There must be quick relief, and this is being sought through an emergency advance in freight rates. Again the railroads ask public support—this time on a record of having provided the best service ever known.

Constructive criticism and suggestions are invited.

President, Illinois Central System

Chicago, September 1, 1931.

We consider it a duty and a privilege to inform the public on railway matters.

Browns Play Two Games Tomorrow; Cards Barnstorm

THE scheduled game between the Browns and the Detroit Tigers was called off today because of rain. Two games will be played tomorrow, weather permitting, the first starting at 1:30 p. m.

Manager Gabby Street will take his champion Cardinals away today for a pair of exhibition games before resuming the league schedule in Pittsburg, Thursday.

Tonight the Redbirds are scheduled for a night game in Peoria, and tomorrow they will play at Grand Rapids, Mich.

A double header, Thursday, Friday and Saturday games will be played in Pittsburg with a Sunday double-header in Cincinnati and a holiday twin bill in Chicago Monday, Labor day.

A shifting of players among the clubs owned by Phil Ball whereby four players will come up to the Browns, and two will go back to the minors, was announced this afternoon by Business Manager Bill Friel.

Americus Polli, young right-handed pitcher of Milwaukee, has been bought by the Browns for cash and the outright assignment of Outfielder Ted Gullic and Pitcher Fred Stiely to Milwaukee. Both Gullic and Stiely are now with the Milwaukee club, which is controlled by Phil Ball.

Jack Crouch, young catcher, formerly with the Browns, has been recalled from the Milwaukee club.

From Ball's Wichita Falls club the Browns have purchased Robert Cooney, a young right-handed pitcher, and have recalled George Stanton, first baseman, whose major league career was temporarily curtailed two years ago when he suffered an injured knee.

Stanton and Cooney will report Thursday, Friel announced, while the others obtained by the Browns will not report until next spring.

Polli seems to be the best of the new men obtained. His record this year is 18 victories and 10 defeats with the Milwaukee club. Last year he was with Louisville. He had a previous major league try-out with the Yankees.

Cooney's record with the Wichita Falls club this season to date, is 16 victories and seven defeats.

DIZZY DEAN IS NAMED MOST VALUABLE PLAYER IN THE TEXAS LEAGUE

By the Associated Press.

HOUSTON, Tex., Sept. 1.—Dizzy Dean, eccentric pitcher who was sent back to Houston this year by the St. Louis Cardinals, has been chosen the most valuable player in the Texas League. The selection was made by sports writers.

Dean has won 25 games for Houston and has 273 strikeouts to his credit. His brilliant hurling is expected to be a feature of the annual Dixie series. Houston has the Texas League championship virtually won and is expected to play Birmingham, the Southern Association leader, in the Southern classic.

Pirates Buy Pitcher.

FORT WORTH, Tex., Sept. 1.—The sale of William (Hard Luck) Harris, right-handed pitcher to the Pittsburg Pirates was announced today by the Fort Worth Texas League club. He will finish the season with the Pirates. Harris was sold for a cash consideration and players, who are to be selected during the winter.

PERRY DEFEATS VINES, 6-3, 7-5, AT PHILADELPHIA

By the Associated Press.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 1—Frederick Perry of England today defeated Ellsworth Vines, United States, in the feature match of the international round robin tennis tournament at the Germantown Cricket Club. The scores were 6—3, 7—5.

George P. (Patsy) Hughes of England had no trouble in winning the opening tennis match. He defeated Marcel Bernard, 17-year-old French player, 6—4, 6—0.

Bernard Showed strong resistance in the first set which opened as a back court duel. The Englishman began to forge ahead as he increased his pace. The second set was just a procession for Hughes. He played with more animation and his game became more diversified. The French youth, however, did not lose heart. The sixth game saw him still trying to pull the match out of the fire but Hughes won the match game after it had gone 10—8.

Mangin and Bell Reach Final in Brookline Meet

By the Associated Press.

BROOKLINE, Mass., Sept. 1.—Gregory Mangin, Newark, N. CAHILL CHOSEN SECRETARY OF SOCCER LEAGUE; TO BOOST GAME

Thomas W. Cahill, native St. Louisan, "father" of the United States Football Association and the best-known figure in American soccer, has returned to St. Louis to aid in the development of the winter sport in this section. Cahill has been appointed secretary of the Soccer and Exhibition Co., Inc., operators of the St. Louis Soccer League, the city's professional organization.

Cahill, who is returning here after 21 years of service in the cause of soccer, has an international reputation for efficiency and square-dealing. As secretary and organizer of both the U. S. F. A. and the American Soccer League, his influence on soccer in the United States was greater than that of any other man over a period of many years.

In 1916, Cahill took to Europe a semi-pro team, which included Player Diedrichsen of St. Iouis and, in 1920, toured abroad with an All-St. Louis eleven which made a remarkable record agaist the best teams in Norway and Sweden. He piloted the Bethlehem Steel team abroad in 1919, and in 1929, took across the Victoria Hockey Club for a tour through Sweden, Germany and Italy.

Cahill's appointment was confirmed last right at a meeting of the St. Louis Soccer League when preparations for the season were outlined. It is planned to open the four-team league on the second Sunday of October and the admission price has been reduced to 50 cents.

A new plan of play for the players was announced to take the place of the guarantee in effect the past few seasons. In games this season, players of the winning team will receive 65 per cent, with 35 going to the losers. In case of ties, the split will be 50—50.

Secretary Cahill has suggested that all players be numbered and that scorecards be supplied patrons so that play and players can be more easily followed.

It is planned to bring the best Eastern teams here for Christmas and New Years and the Missouri State Association will be asked to maintain a picked St. Louis team to oppose these out-of-town clubs.

President Barker of the league has announced that four St. Louis teams will be entered in the nineteenth annual U. S. F. A. cup competition. Entries for this competition close Sept. 12.

Pirates Release Stanage.

By the Associated Press.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Sept. 1.—Oscar Stanage, coach of the Pittsburg Pirates since 1927, was released unconditionally today, club officials announced. Stanage formerly was a catcher for the Detroit American League club.

Famous Trainer Says Dempsey Can Get Into Real Fighting Shape

By Artie McGovern,
Trainer of Babe Ruth.

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—Jack Dempsey can get himself in first-class fighting condition. He will not be the Dempsey of Toledo, to be sure. But he will be in better fighting condition than he was in 1927.

It was conceded that Dempsey was in better physical condition in the second Tunney fight than he was in the contest which lost him his title. I firmly believe that Jack Dempsey, scientifically conditioned, can attain 70 per cent of his best fighting condition.

The Manassa mauler has just passed his thirty-sixth birthday. Babe Ruth is 37 and the Bambino is playing the best game of his career, in spite of the fact that the "Babe" was supposed to be all washed up six years ago. They said the Bambino's legs were gone. he was too fat. After two months' training the "Babe" joined his team and the legs that were supposed to be shot carried him through his most successful season, setting a new home run record. He has continued these past six years to be the outstanding athlete in baseball.

When Dempsey started training under my supervision this year, I found him to be in excellent physical condition. He was much better than was Babe Ruth when he came to me in 1925. Dempsey is still a fighting man at heart. He is the finest physical specimen I have ever seen. He has taken good care of himself. He lives moderately, dissipates very little, enjoys smoking cigars and loves good food. He is always playing pranks on his friends, and when not in training he has an abundance of energy. He seems to be utterly tireless.

The old methods of training, which might better be called "straining," were the chief reasons of Dempsey's poor physical condition in his last three fights. Dempsey's energy should have been conserved—not burned up.

Keep Jack in good mental condition, in a good psychological frame of mind; keep him strong by a moderate training regime, keep him in his natural high strung nervous state, "rarin' to go" and his age, legs, or what-have-you, will not save his opponent from being knocked out.

HUGHIE CRITZ QUITS GIANTS FOR SEASON

By the Associated Press.

BOSTON, Sept. 1.—Convinced that he could not get his injured right shoulder into condition in what remains of the playing season, Hughie Critz, Giants' second baseman, has gone to his home at Greenwood, Miss., and will not play again until next spring.

Seaver, by missing an 18-inch putt on the seventeenth hole, tied Arthur W. (Ducky) Yates of Rochester, N. Y., 74-74—148, and Johnny Lehman of Chicago, 78-70—148.

With the lead in his grasp, Seaver needed three putts on the seventeenth and had to sink a four-foot downhill putt on the home hole to get his par five and a tie with the previous leaders.

His card—
Out 5 5 4 4 3 3 5 5 4—36
In 3 6 3 4 5 4 4 4 5—38-74—148

Yates, in tying Lehman, qualified for the first time since the 1928 tournament in which he upset George von Elm in the first round. The Rochester Star is the biggest competitor in the field, scaling 268 pounds. He played football at Yale and Princeton, before the war, won the North and South amateur in 1925 and the New York State title in 1927 and was runner up for this year's Canadian amateur.

His card:
In...... 353 445 536—38-74—148

The second day's play began in a downpour of rain which, although it ceased early, left the course in a soggy condition with pools of casual water all around. The traps, in many instances, were nearly half filled with water.

Two Successive Birds.

Lehman, with birdies on the first and seventh holes, was the first man in the tournament to equal par for the first nine when he made the turn in 36. Coming back Lehman had successive birdies at the thirteenth and fourteenth holes due to sensational approach shots dead to pin and finished the back nine in 34, one under par for his 70.

Lehman's card with par:

In—

The elements turned suddenly against the latter half of the field, as another downpour of rain broke loose shortly after 2 p. m.

While the youngsters and dark horses were running more or less wild throught the downpour, the carnage was terrific among pre-tournament favorites.

Dr. O. F. Willing of Portland, Ore., 1929 finalist, was the first to tumble, with 159. Cyril Tolley, ex-British champion, was completely out with 167. Others well outside the qualifying borderline were William Lawson Little Jr. of San Francisco, 161; Bud McKinney of Dallas, who led all the sectional qualifiers, 162, and Charley Kocsis, Detroit, 161.

Manion Has an 80.

Jimmy Manion, Normandie Golf Club, St. Louis, one of three players representing that district, found some trouble today and took an 80 which, with his 77 of yesterday, placed him in a doubtful position as to qualifying.

Bryan Winter, Missouri amateur and St. Louis district champion, improved a bit over his game of yesterday, scoring a 79 for a 162 total, but was far out of the select circle. Bill Medart, who, like Winter, is a member of North Hills Country Club, bettered his first day's score by two shots, shooting an 80 today but his 162 also failed to qualify.

Westland Blows Up.

In the day's biggest form reversal, Jack Westland of Chicago, the first round leader at 72, blew wide apart and took an 84 for his second tour. His total of 156 put him on the border line, where he faced the possible necessity of playing off for a qualifying place.

Jack Westland, the first day's leader, with a 72, got off on his second round badly, taking a seven at the first hole, after a struggle with the rough off of the tee and the traps guarding the green. The Chicagoan was five over par for four holes.

Battalino to Box Shea.

HARTFORD, Conn., Sept. 1.—Bat Battalino, world's featherweight champion, has agreed to meet Eddie Shea, of Chicago at Hurley Stadium here, on Sept. 15 in a 10-round non-title fight.

Chick Rains, Dodge City, Kan. (162½), defeated Buck Easterling, Chicago (176), 10 rounds. Al Niest, referee.
Clifford Doetzel, St. Louis (113½), defeated Billy Cain, St. Louis (116½), four rounds. Al Niest, referee.

By W. J. McGoogan.

Al Stillman realizes today that if he is to get anywhere in the fight game, he must learn to do something besides punch with his right hand. Al has a powerful wallop in his right, but he had a good lesson in the use of the left hand at Battery A last night when dozens of left hooks by Clyde Chastain sent Stillman down to the worst defeat he has ever suffered before a home crowd. Chastain, in winning nine out of 10 rounds, used his left almost exclusively.

In only one session did Stillman show to advantage. That was the second, when he threw right hand punches in reckless fashion to gain an edge over Chastain but from then on, Clyde kept Al's right pretty well tied up and beat a tattoo with his own left on Al's face and body.

Neither man suffered a real knockdown although Stillman, caught off balance in the tenth round by one of Chastains' lefts, went to his haunches but was up immediately.

Kaiser Defeats Nichols.

The bout was the climax of five good contests. It was difficult to choose between the three 10-rounders as to which was the most exciting. In the semiwindup, Johnny Kaiser scored a hard-fought victory over George Nichols of Muskogee, Ok., by a shade, while in the other 10-rounder, Chick Rains gave away 12 pounds to Buck Easterling of Chicago, and punched out a decisive victory, the sixth he has won in the seven bouts in which he has engaged here this summer.

Kaiser found a tough customer in Nichols, a young boxer who outweighed Johnny by a pound. Apparently he was schooled to carefully avoid Kaiser's right hand and he gave Johnny few opportunities to use it. Many ringsiders were of the opinion that Nichols defeated Kaiser, but it appeared that Johnny had four rounds, two went to Nichols and four were even. The tenth round was Nichols' best and that probably had a great deal to do with causing the spectators to think he had won, but Kaiser appeared to have piled up too great a point lead up to the final round to lose or even to drop to a draw.

Johnny had a bad time of it in the last round. The youth in front of him was full of fight and his own trunks were slipping down around his knees, hampering his movements, to say nothing of the embarrassment he felt.

Doetzel Wins in Pro Debut.

Rains fought a smart fight. Easterling, big and strong, was nobody to fool with but Chick threw so many rights and lefts at Buck that it appeared the Kansas battler won nine of the 10 rounds with the other even. Easterling wore a bulldog expression into the ring and despite the rain of gloves which poured on him from all angles that expression never changed. Rains hit him solidly on the chin time and again, but Buck merely shook off the effects of the blows and bored in for more.

Clifford Doetzel made a good start in the professional ranks, winning a four-round bout over Billy Cain. Cliff staggered Billy with a fine right cross in the second round and it appeared that he might bring his foe down but Cain lasted to the finish.

Johnny Miles seemed to have a little the better of his six-round argument with Frank Stoisek of Springfield, Ill. Miles won the first two rounds and the last two with the other two going to Stoisek.

The crowd was disappoining, only 1678 person attending. The gate grossed $1378.15.

It was announced that Jack Tippett, promoting for the Walter Hatzfeld Post of the American Legion would hold his next show, Wedensday, Sept. 9. That likely will be the final outdoor show of the season and the last of the no decision contests as the law permitting decisions goes into effect Sept. 14.

Bob Riley, local manager and representative of fighters, claimed 12½ per cent of Chastain's purse for services which he says he rendered. When Chastain refused to pay, the commission held up that part of Chastain money, amounting to about $20.

Babe Ruth Team Contest Closes; Judges Selected To Determine 33 Winners

The seventh annual Post-Dispatch Babe Ruth All-America team contest closed last night, and letters with postmarks showing they were mailed before midnight will be judged by the committee obtained for this important task.

This committee will be composed of J. G. Taylor Spink, publisher of the Sporting News, a national weekly baseball publication; Arthur E. Eilers, business manager of athletics at Washington University, and Richard J. Collins, former sports editor of the St. Louis Republic.

These widely known men, who have acted in a similar capacity in previous Post-Dispatch Babe Ruth contests, will have absolute power in naming the winners of the 33 awards.

The contest far outranks any previous Babe Ruth contest in interest, as shown in the number of teams submitted. It is estimated that 5000 teams were received in the Post-Dispatch office during the final 48 hours of the contest. Letters, incidentally, are continuing to stream in from persons outside of St. Louis who mailed their letters previous to the closing hour.

In the event of a tie for any prize, the award will be made on the merit of the essay of explanation which was required with each team. Failure to submit an essay, which happened in a number of cases, automatically eliminates the contestant's team from consideration.

WRAY'S COLUMN

We Have With Us—

AMONG the celebrated comebacks of today we list a new one—Thomas W. Cahill, father of the United States Football Association and also of a lot of other good ideas, the fruits of which eventually were taken away from him. Eased out of control of the body he created and chiseled out of his berth as secretary of the first major league of association football clubs (of which he was also the chief builder) Cahill was almost a complete fadeout from important soccer activities.

But he is back, or at least he is on the way. The St. Louis Soccer League, which Cahill aided in every legal way when he was head of the national body, has invited Cahill to assist in the conduct of its organization. Last night he was officially confirmed in his new connection. It was the first step the league has taken looking to reawakening local interest in this game.

Cahill's aid should be of material help in bringing back interest in the sport which once made St. Louis the leading soccer center of the country.

Took St. Louis Team Abroad.

IT was Cahill who, after establishing the National soccer body, made St. Louis a name internationally known by taking two all-star elevens abroad, the first of which included one St. Louis player while the second was composed entirely of St. Louis talent. The success of both in beating the best elevens in Scandinavia, and Germany almost startled Europe, which had thought this country in an elementary state of soccer development. The all-St. Louis born team was especially successful. It was through Cahill's influence also that St. Louis was represented on the Olympic teams which played abroad.

Cahill has not announced any plans for bringing back the prestige of St. Louis. But his connection with out-of-town soccer centers is strong enough to enable him to work out substantial plans for strengthening teams here and arousing new interest.

Fountain of Youth:

PONCE DE LEON was all wrong. That fountain of youth which he tried to locate in Florida has just been discovered in Milwaukee. At least there's some magical output up there that has more than one-half of one per cent kick in it.

All the old baseball players sent to pasture up there are waking up and taking notice. And some of the young ones are strangely frisky. Not long ago we called attention to Art Shires who is hammering the pill around the .390 mark. Then there is Clyde Manion, a .280 hitter at best, who is whaling the apple above the .350 mark. Metzler who with the Browns batted 6⅞ or thereabouts, is outhitting any player in the National League today.

But the surest convincer about that Fountain of Youth stuff is the batting average of Frank O'Rourke, who is hitting .348 since he joined the Brewers. Frank might bat that high in the American League by adding together his averages for two years.

There is something about that rubber-cored rocket ball used in the American Association that is causing a lot of joy in the Association, but which may cause a lot of grief in the big leagues, especially as concerns those clubs to which association stars are going up, next season. There isn't much doubt that a painful shrinkage of batting figures will follow the change from the rubber core to the cork core ball.

When Success Doesn't Pay.

THE St. Paul baseball club, which is running away with the Association pennant and is out in front with a long lead of 11 games, played to 1500 fans yesterday, while the Milwaukee club, which is in fourth place, played to 10,000.

Apparently in baseball the reward of success is financial failure. Instead of attracting throngs the super teams play to empty benches. The Brewers coming to life late in the campaign are interesting home-town fans.

In baseball an exceptional team apparently is something to be avoided. The club that has the pennant clinched on Sept. 1 is doomed to play to reduced gates. The American League has had several years of runaway races and knows the damage these cause. The Redbirds are experiencing their first easy victory. Probably this, too, will react against attendance.

There seems no way to avoid this seeming paradox of the super ball club.

That's because it is not really baseball of itself that the fans want to see, but the excitement of a hot race. When the winner is "in," the zest departs.

The thrill, not the game, is the thing today.

CARONDELET NET TEAM RETAINS FIRST PLACE IN INTERPARK LEAGUE

The Carondelet Park tennis team won five straight matches from Baden to retain its lead in the interpark league competition last Sunday. O'Fallon, in second place, made a clean sweep of its series with Concordia Park. Carondelet and O'Fallon meet for the championship next Sunday. Fairground won five in a row from Sherman Park.

10,000 ATTEND REOPENING OF MADISON RACES

Blue Sky, Blue Diamond and Rooney, all progeny of Playgoer, winner of Wellston Derby honors four years ago and sire of Playgoer II, last year's Madison champion, were victorious in their respective engagements on a card which marked the resumption of racing at Madison last night.

Blue Sky came up from sixth place at the head of the stretch to win over Sam Meadows by a head in the fifth race, a thrilling five-sixteenths mile contest, while Blue Diamond moved up from third on the stretch to beat Bampton Viscount by a length in the sixth, a fast futurity; and Rooney, making his Madison debut, defeated Miss Purport by a head in the ninth, another five-sixteenths mile engagement, in which the Playgoer pup came up from fourth place at the last turn. Tabasco, another Playgoer pup, finished third in the opener, a quarter-mile jaunt which marked his racing debut.

A crowd of approximately 10,-(·) attended.

Louis Meadows Favored Tonight.

Louis Meadows, Glengosk Rebel and Lone Eagle, three of the speediest young racers developed on the Madison course last season, will step out in the tenth and feature engagement on tonight's greyhound racing card at the Madison Kennel Club to match strides over the futurity route with Gallant Red, Irish Side, Headcorn, Bingo Boy and Kingsbury Smut, all fast and consistent futurity sprinters.

On the strength of three stellar performances on the East Side track a month ago, Louis Meadows, which lost the decision to Soissons by a head on his last start, shapes up as the probable favorite, though Glengosk Rebel and Lone Eagle also figure to furnish strong contention if they run true to the form they both displayed in recent schooling trials.

Chapman Steals Two More.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Sept. 1. — Ben Chapman of the New York Yankees wrote a little baseball history today. He stole two bags in the New York-Washington game yesterday, bringing his seasonal total up to 53 thefts, which is more than any major leaguer has achieved in a season since 1920. In that year Sam Rice of Washington annexed 62 stolen bases.

A Balanced Diet.

"Quite so, sir; that's to balance diet on."

A Black-Birdie.

After a golfer at Gulph Mills, Pa., has made a drive of 175 yards down the fairway as the crow flies, a crow swooped down and picked up the ball and flew away with it.
For him an eagle was a pipe,
He'd made a score or so,
And now he thought the time was ripe
For him to make a crow.

Wrestlers may not be what you'd call card sharks, but they know all about bridge, and can certainly make a grand slam.

NEWSPAPER BOWLING LEAGUE OPENS SEASON AT PETERSON'S ALLEYS

The Agates toppled 2704 pins to lead the teams in the opening round of the Newspaper League at Peterson's alleys last night, but won only one game from the Sport Specials. The latter team rolled 2669, with Gus Geldbach getting 585 and Bill Elfert 573. Piesbergen rolled 578 for the Agates.

The other matches resulted in odd-game victories for the States, Orange Sheets and Intertypes. H. Weege, rolling with the Green Sheets, won the special prize for high single with a 225 count. Elfert was one pin behind him. A. Volkert paced the individuals for three games with 596.

Sanders Defeats Phyle.

A. B. Sanders, representing Peterson's, defeated F. J. Phyle of the Arcade, 75 to 50, in 24 innings in the inter-room pocket billiard match at Peterson's last night. In the other game, played at O'Donnells, McDonough won from Patterson, 75 to 59, in 24 innings.

SCHAAF KNOCKS OUT CAMPOLO IN SEVENTH ROUND

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—Thanks to Ernie Schaaf, the blond model from Boston, there is one less heavyweight title contender today. Vittorio Campolo, the giant Argentine who had hoped to follow the trail blazed by his countryman, Luis Angel Firpo, is the latest of the big boys to fall by the wayside. Schaaf disposed of whatever titular ideas Campolo had last night, when he floored the towering South American for the count of 10 in the seventh round of a scheduled 12-round bout at Ebbets Field.

Although the defeat dropped him from the ranks of the important battlers, Campolo gave a crowd of only 15,000 a good show until Schaaf sent him to the mat with a left hook to the chin. Before that deciding blow, Schaaf had belted his larger opponent with a barrage of body blows—blows that finally brought Victorio down to where Ernie could connect with his left.

Dempsey Stops Four Heavies In Exhibition

SPOKANE, Wash., Sept. 1.—Jack Dempsey, former heavyweight boxing champion, knocked out four blundering heavies and clowned two rounds with a fifth last night in the fourth stage of what he describes as a come-back attempt.

The Stadium was filled with 12,-370 fans, who paid $21,880 to see the one-time Manassa mauler manhandle his five opponents during the 11 minutes 18 seconds the five bouts lasted.

Elgin Taylor, Spokane Negro, was the first victim. He stepped out with a scowl that matched the former champion's, but he hit the canvas in 35 seconds.

Dee Richmond, Chewelah, Wash., went out next, in 33 seconds.

Big Bill Neering, Coeur d'Alene, Idaho, lumberjack, known as a slugger, landed two solid lefts, one of which made Dempsey shake his head, but crashed to the canvas twice in a bout of two minutes 22 seconds that ended with him flat on his back.

Tony Talerico, Walla Walla, Wash., posed for a picture with Dempsey, standing in the center of the ring. Two body punches and a rap to the chin and he was prone in the same spot.

Cyclone Thompson, Wenatchee, Wash., started with a whirl of speed that sent Dempsey into a clowning act that lasted two rounds and pleased the crowd.

STOCK SALES ONLY 533,010 SHARES; RAIL ISSUES FIRM

Turnover Is Off to Lowest Level in Recent Years and Prices Move in Extremely Narrow Range—U. S. Steel Up Fractionally.

THREE-DAY HOLIDAY OVER WEEK-END IS VOTED BY 'CHANGE

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.

THE Governing Committee of the Stock Exchange today granted the petition of members for a holiday on Saturday, preceding Labor day, insuring a three-day holiday over the week end. The extreme slowness of trading presumably was an influence in arriving at this decision.

The Board of Governors of the Curb Exchange also voted to close Saturday.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—The stock market drifted into September today and all but stalled in dead center.

The turnover fell off to the lowest level in recent years, and prices fluttered dully in an extremely narrow range. A fairly firm undertone developed, however, as railroad issues stiffened a little, possibly reflecting an optimistic news ticker discussion of the prospect of getting the increase in freight rates. The turnover was 533,010 shares.

The day's sales compared with 580,310 on July 27, the previous low record for recent years. Today's turnover was the lowest since October, 1924, in which the turnover fell as low as 437,000 shares in a five-hour day.

Union Pacific, Baltimore & Ohio, and New York Central pushed up a point or two, and Santa Fe gained 3. Industrials gaining a point or so included Case, Lambert, Loews and Union Carbide, U. S. Steel and other prominent industrials generally closed up fractionally. Traders were extremely hesitant. September usually develops a more definite trend in the market than August, but clues as to what the trend will be were completely lacking.

August an Inactive Month.

The extreme activity of the market throughout August, and the complete absence of important selling even in the face of adverse news, both domestic and foreign, has lent considerable encouragement to bullishly inclined traders, but they mostly despair of getting any following in the market until the tenor of trade and corporate news changes. Such items in today's news as receiverships for Florida East Coast Railway and the Tri-Utilities Corporation scarcely provide the proper atmosphere to encourage bullish efforts. Nevertheless, those situations had been understood so far in advance that the market accepted them nonchalantly.

Total sales in the Stock Exchange in August of roughly 2[…] 000,000 shares were the smallest since August of 1924. The price average of 90 leading shares fluctuated within a range of only seven points, and showed a net gain for the month of little over one point.

The reduction of the Reichsbank's rate to 8 per cent from […] provided further evidence of the alleviation of the European crisis, but the monthly survey by the National City Bank points out that it will require more definite arrangements for the resumption of payments when the war debt moratorium expires next July 1 to […] the cloud of uncertainty.

Reserve Bank Statement.

The weekly condition statement of Federal Reserve member banks in leading cities showed a gain […] $37,000,000 in loans on securities but failed to indicate the Autumn stirrings of commercial activity, the "all other loans" classification, which includes commercial loans. That classification showed a decline of $40,000,000, which may in part have represented further liquidation of bankers' acceptances in the market for foreign sources.

Foreign exchanges were about steady. Sterling was well supported, cables ruling at $4.86 5-32, […] 1-32. The Spanish peseta rallied a few points.

REICHSBANK CUTS RATES

BERLIN, Sept. 1.—The Reichsbank today reduced its rate from 10 to 8 per cent, and on collateral from 12 to 10 per cent.

Chicago Stock Market

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Sept. 1.—North American Light and Power broke sharply to a new low for the year at 46⅛ on the Chicago Stock Exchange today. This issue was down six from yesterday's close and 18 points lower than Saturday. The decline was understood to reflect the folding up of the pool operation in the stock, and was reported in no way attributable to anything in company affairs.

Elsewhere in the list, prices varied little and trade was listless.

COTTON MARKET CLOSES 3 TO 6 POINTS LOWER

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—An early decline in cotton under selling promoted by a favorable weather map and relatively easy Liverpool cables, was followed by rallies on trade buying and covering today.

December contracts, after selling off to 6.95, advanced to 7.14 or within a point of yesterday's closing quotation, with the general market quiet and steady at net declines of 1 to 5 points around 2 o'clock. The failure of bearish features to bring in more pressure and the continued absence of hedging in any impressive volume seemed responsible for covering or rebuying by early sellers.

Futures closed steady, 3 to 8 points lower: Oct., 6.91@92c; Dec., 7.12@13c; Jan., 7.22c; March, 7.42c; May, 7.56@58c; July, 7.75@78c; spot quiet; middling, 6.95c.

Cotton opened barely steady, 18 to 19 points lower, under selling inspired by weakness in Liverpool and a favorable weather map.

Present weather conditions are thought likely to promote picking and an increasing movement, which may be reflected by a corresponding increase in the hedge selling here, and according to some brokers, there was a little more Southern selling in the market this morning. It was in small scattering lots, however, and offerings were readily enough absorbed by trade buying and covering at the decline to steady the market during the early trading. December contracts, after selling off to 6.95c at the start, rallied to 7.02c, while March sold up from 7.26c to 7.32c, with the market comparatively quiet and steady, at net declines of 13 to 14 points before session had gone far.

Liverpool cable reported hedging, with continental and Bombay liquidation in that market, and said that stop orders had been uncovered on the decline. Egyptian cotton futures in Alexandria were 18 to 24 points lower and the Indian spot quotation in Liverpool showed a decline of 10 points.

A private report was issued making the end-August condition 67.6, compared with 70.3 the previous month, indicating deterioration of only 3 points for the period, compared with the 10-year average of 11.3. These figures came in for some comment, but evidently had little effect on the market. According to a canvass made today, New York Cotton Exchange members on the average expect a crop of about 15,572,000 bales.

NEW YORK RUBBER MARKET

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—Rubber futures opened barely steady; September, 4.80c; December, 5c. New contracts—September, 4.85c; December, 5.10c; March, 5.33c.

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—Rubber, spot, smoked, ribbed, 5c.

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—Rubber futures closed quiet; September, 4.80; December, 5.00. New contracts, September, 4.85; December, 5.08; March, 5.31.

Danzig Bank Reduces Rate.

DANZIG, Sept. 1.—The Bank of Danzig today reduced the rate to 6 per cent from 7 per cent and the Lombard rate to 7 per cent from 8 per cent.

CLEARINGS, MONEY AND SILVER

The St. Louis Clearing House Association reported clearings for Sept. 1, 1931, $13,100,000; corresponding day last year, $22,800,000; this year, $3,214,800,000; corresponding period last year, $4,175,100,000.

Report of debits for Aug. 31, 1931, were: Debits to individual accounts, $28,000,000; total to date, $4,865,200,000; debits to bank and bankers' accounts, $13,200,000; total to date, $2,526,900,000; combined debits to individual and bank and bankers' accounts, $41,200,000; total to date, $7,412,100,000.

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—Call money held at 1½ per cent, the renewal rate, today. Money in the outside market was quoted at 1 per cent.

Bankers acceptances were quiet, with both supply and demand small. Asking rates were unchanged. Commercial paper was inactive and unchanged, with business practically suspended by preparations among banks for the forthcoming Treasury offering. Time money was quiet and unchanged.

Time loans 60-90 days 1¼@1½; 4 months 1½@1¾; 5-6 months 1¾@2 per cent. Prime commercial paper 1¾@2.

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—Silver futures closed steady; no sales. Quotations in cents: Sept., 27.80; Oct., 27.85; Nov., 27.90; Dec., 28.10; May, 28.35; July, 28.45.

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—Bar silver steady and unchanged at 27⅝.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1.—Treasury receipts for Aug. 29 were $2,003,440.56; expenditures, $7,389,196.73; balance, $130,698,154.95. Customs receipts for the month to the close of business Aug. 29 were $36,586,759.20.

LONDON, Sept. 1.—Bar silver 12⅞ per ounce. Money 3½ per cent. Discount rates: Short bills 4¼@4½ per cent; three months 4¼@4 5-16 per cent.

PARIS, Sept. 1.—Three per cent rentes, 88 francs 90 centimes; five per cent loan, 104 francs 90 centimes. Exchange on London, 123 francs 97 centimes; the dollar was quoted at 25 francs 50¼ centimes.

New York Sugar.

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—Raw sugar was a little easier early today, and it developed that late yesterday a local refiner bought 23,000 bags of Cuban for prompt shipment at 3.38c delivered, with additional offerings from store at the same level, but apparently no further buying interest.

Futures opened 1 point higher to 1 point lower and showed little change during the balance of the forenoon, with midday prices at about the same levels. There were 124 September notices issued, equivalent to 6200 tons, and the circulation of these caused some early liquidation, but they appeared to be promptly taken care of by the same interests who stopped all the previous tenders with the bulk of the business comprised of exchanging from the near to the more distant positions. The uncertainty in the spot market seemed to restrict operations and there appeared to be a disposition to limit fresh commitments and await new developments.

Refined was unchanged at 4.60c for fine granulated, with a fair withdrawal demand and some new business reported.

Futures closed steady, unchanged to 1 point lower. Approximated sales 25,500 tons. Sept. 1.32c; Dec. 1.30c; Jan. 1.29@30c; March 1.34@35c; My 1.39c; July 1.45c.

DECEMBER WHEAT CLOSES HIGHER, CORN UNCHANGED

ST. LOUIS MERCHANTS' EXCHANGE, Sept. 1.—December wheat closed ⅜c higher while December corn was unchanged.

Report from Chicago that deliveries on September wheat contracts were below expectations exerted influence on prices here as well as there. Chicago also reported no corn delivered on September contracts.

Liverpool wheat closed ¼d to ⅜d lower and there was report of larger Danubian offers.

Winnipeg closed ¼@⅜c net.

Local wheat receipts which were 151,200 bu. compared with 88,200 last week and 310,800 last year (3 days) included 32 cars local and 76 through. Corn receipts which were 16,800 bu. compared with 51,800 last week and 303,800 last year (3 days) included 8 cars local and 4 through. Oats receipts which were 22,000 bu. compared with 8800 last week and 92,400 last year (3 days) included 9 cars local and 1 through. Hay receipts were 5 cars local and 10 through.

Cash Grain Sales.

Sales of cash grain made on the floor of the Exchange today were as follows:

CHICAGO WHEAT CLOSES FIRM AT ADVANCE

CHICAGO, Sept. 1.—Wheat averaged higher today, although trade was generally inactive and the price range narrow. Small deliveries on September contracts, 50,000 bushels, had some effect, as this delivery was fractionally firmer than the deferred months. Latest information from abroad placed the wheat crop of 12 countries, exclusive of Russia, at 1,380,000,000 bushels, or 3,000,000 bushels more than last year, but no allowance was made for smaller reserves of old grain this year. There were no deliveries on September corn contracts, much to the surprise of the trade, and this fact sent prices higher. Later, recessions wiped out all early gains and September corn was lower at the close. Oats were slightly higher. Provisions ranged higher on short covering in lard.

Wheat closed firm, ⅛@1 cent higher than yesterday's finish. Corn mixed, 1 cent down on the September and unchanged ¼c up on deferred months. Oats ⅛@½c advanced, and provisions unchanged to 15 cents higher.

Wheat deliveries early totaled only 25,000 bushels, and no corn had been tendered when the Board of Trade opened. Short covering on the advance found offerings small, but they increased later and September corn lost around a cent from the early top. Wheat opened ⅛@¼ cent higher and later reacted slightly. Corn started ⅝@1⅞ up, but reacted afterward.

There was little to influence wheat in the day's news. Liverpool prices were lower and offerings of wheat from Danubian countries were reported heavier. British cables were skeptical over the German report yesterday that only 4,410,000 bushels of foreign wheat would be required this season, pointing out that more than 50,000,000 bushels usually were needed.

Commission house buying and short coverings sent prices higher after it became certain that deliveries on September contracts would not be excessive. Corn was steady following the reaction from the initial bulge, caused by surprise at the smallness of deliveries. Oats were quiet. Provisions were steady.

Dry Goods Market Review.

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—Cotton goods were still in moderate demand Tuesday, but prices were again unsettled by lower cotton. Wool goods were in steady call in the dress goods division. Men's wear lines were quiet. Rayon was selling for later delivery to cotton weaving mills. Burlaps were firmer. Silk goods were selling more actively to the cutting trades.

NEW YORK BOND MARKET

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—Bond sales on the New York Stock Exchange today were $8,354,000, compared with $6,635,000 yesterday, $8,683,000 a week ago and $8,078,000 a year ago. Total sales from Jan. 1 to date were $1,851,595,000 compared with $1,876,681,000 a year ago and $1,889,485,000 two years ago.

Quotations on all Liberty Bonds are in dollars and thirty-seconds of a dollar. That is, for instance, a sale printed 99—24 means $99 and 24 thirty-seconds of a dollar, and not $99.24.

Following is a complete list of bonds traded in today, giving sales, highest, lowest and closing prices. In sales, 000 omitted:

No Action on Dividend.

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—Directors of Ulen & Co., international engineers and builders of New York and Lebanon, Ind., omitted action on the quarterly dividend of 40 cents. It was explained that earnings in the first half of the year were in excess of dividend requirements, but the board felt it advisable to conserve cash for use in completing current construction work in this country. President Devaney said construction work abroad is on a cash basis and progressing satisfactorily.

SUIT IN U. S. COURT AGAINST ROUTE OF SUPERHIGHWAY

St. Louis County Property Owner, Living in Illinois, Seeks to Block Clayton-Conway Location.

ACTION IS IN BEHALF OF 72 OTHER PERSONS

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Sept. 1.—Suit for an injunction to prevent the State Highway Commission from carrying out its intention of building a superhighway across St. Louis County on the so-called Clayton-Conway route was filed in Federal Court here today. The road would be marked U. S. Route No. 40.

The suit is in behalf of a group of 72 residents and property owners along the Clayton-Conway route, who fear the superhighway would spoil the residential character of their land and depreciate its value. It was brought in the name of Griffin Watkins, manager of an International Shoe Co. factory at Wood River, Ill., who resides near Alton, Ill. Watkins owns 42 acres of land near Clayton road through which the superhighway would pass, and claims the road would damage his property in excess of $126,000.

Walter R. Mayne of the law firm of Fordyce, Holliday & White represents Watkins and the group of 72 owners. Watkins, an Illinois resident, was chosen as plaintiff in order to bring the suit in Federal Court. If the commission's routing is carried out, the suit avers, Watkins would be deprived of his property without due process in violation of the fourteenth amendment. This constitutional question might result in carrying the argument to the Supreme Court of the United States, which the objectors are prepared to do, if necessary.

What Injunction Seeks.

An injunction is sought agains construction and maintenance o the superhighway; spending or con tracting to spend State funds f the right of way; instituting co demnation proceedings for th right of way; making surveys damaging Watkins' property any way, or otherwise interferin with Watkins' quiet and peaceab possession of his land.

The Court is asked to constru the amendment to the State Co stitution of 1928, under which $75 000,000 in additional road bon were voted, as not giving the Hig way Commission authority to loca the superhighway as laid out present. The Court also is asked construe section 8111 of the R vised Statutes as not giving t commission the power to conden Watkins' land for the superhig way. Section 8111, in part, autho izes the commission to purchas lease or condemn land for t right-of-way for location and co struction of any State highway, "for any other purpose necessa for the proper and economical co struction of the State highway sy tem for which the commission m have authority granted by law."

After a controversy in St. Lou County over the superhighway cation that lasted more than t years, the State Highway Comm sion unanimously decided on t Clayton-Conway route on June Initial cost of the proposed 31-m road between St. Louis and Wen ville, including a bridge over Missouri River northwest of Ch terfield, was estimated at $3,26 000.

"Illegal, Arbitrary, Unjust."

The commission's routing follo Clayton road between the St. Lo limits and North and South ro then swings about half a mile sou of Clayton road for a stretch about two miles, in the dist where most of the objectors are terested. Then it crosses Clay road at Warson road and runs Bellefontaine along a line midw between Clayton and Conway ro From Bellefontaine to a point of Chesterfield it follows O Street road, then turns north to bridge site. It would cross Charles County between the bri at Weldon Springs, and Wentzv

The injunction suit relates the commission claimed suffic authority to locate the superh way under the road bond ame ment of 1928 and a law enact 1929, which gave the commis power to execute the provision that amendment. However, alleged, the commission's rou is "illegal, arbitrary, unjust and tally without authority in law."

The plaintiff, it is averred, not determine under which of eral clauses of the amendment

No Action on Dividend.

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—Directors of Ulen & Co., international engineers and builders of New York and Lebanon, Ind., omitted action on the quarterly dividend of 40 cents. It was explained that earnings in the first half of the year were in excess of dividend requirements, but the board felt it advisable to conserve cash for use in completing current construction work in this country. President Devaney said construction work abroad is on a cash basis and progressing satisfactorily.

SUIT IN U. S. COURT AGAINST ROUTE OF SUPERHIGHWAY

St. Louis County Property Owner, Living in Illinois, Seeks to Block Clayton-Conway Location.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Sept. 1.—Suit for an injunction to prevent the State Highway Commission from carrying out its intention of building a superhighway across St. Louis County on the so-called Clayton-Conway route was filed in Federal Court here today. The road would be marked U. S. Route No. 40.

The suit is in behalf of a group of 72 residents and property owners along the Clayton-Conway route, who fear the superhighway would spoil the residential character of their land and depreciate its value. It was brought in the name of Griffin Watkins, manager of an International Shoe Co. factory at Wood River, Ill., who resides near Alton, Ill. Watkins owns 42 acres of land near Clayton road through which the superhighway would pass, and claims the road would damage his property in excess of $126,000.

Walter R. Mayne of the law firm of Fordyce, Holliday & White represents Watkins and the group of 72 owners. Watkins, an Illinois resident, was chosen as plaintiff in order to bring the suit in Federal Court. If the commission's routing is carried out, the suit avers, Watkins would be deprived of his property without due process in violation of the fourteenth amendment. This constitutional question might result in carrying the argument to the Supreme Court of the United States, which the objectors are prepared to do, if necessary.

What Injunction Seeks.

An injunction is sought against construction and maintenance of the superhighway; spending or contracting to spend State funds for the right of way; instituting condemnation proceedings for the right of way; making surveys or damaging Watkins' property in any way, or otherwise interfering with Watkins' quiet and peaceable possession of his land.

The Court is asked to construe the amendment to the State Constitution of 1928, under which $75,000,000 in additional road bonds were voted, as not giving the Highway Commission authority to locate the superhighway as laid out at present. The Court also is asked to construe section 8111 of the Revised Statutes as not giving the commission the power to condemn Watkins' land for the superhighway. Section 8111, in part, authorizes the commission to purchase, lease or condemn land for the right-of-way for location and construction of any State highway, or "for any other purpose necessary for the proper and economical construction of the State highway system for which the commission may have authority granted by law."

After a controversy in St. Louis County over the superhighway location that lasted more than two years, the State Highway Commission unanimously decided on the Clayton-Conway route on June 9. Initial cost of the proposed 31-mile road between St. Louis and Wentzville, including a bridge over the Missouri River northwest of Chesterfield, was estimated at $3,266,000.

"Illegal, Arbitrary, Unjust."

The commission's routing follows Clayton road between the St. Louis limits and North and South road, then swings about half a mile south of Clayton road for a stretch of about two miles, in the district where most of the objectors are interested. Then it crosses Clayton road at Warson road and runs to Bellefontaine along a line midway between Clayton and Conway roads. From Bellefontaine to a point west of Chesterfield it follows Olive Street road, then turns north to the bridge site. It would cross St. Charles County between the bridge, at Weldon Springs, and Wentzville.

The injunction suit relates that the commission claimed sufficient authority to locate the superhighway under the road bond amendment of 1928 and a law enacted in 1929, which gave the commission power to execute the provisions of that amendment. However, it is alleged, the commission's routing is "illegal, arbitrary, unjust and totally without authority in law."

The plaintiff, it is averred, cannot determine under which of several clauses of the amendment the commission proceeded in designating the route. It is generally believed that the commission acted under the provision for constructing roads and bridges in "congested traffic areas adjacent to St. Louis and Kansas City." If that is the case, the suit alleges, the action is illegal because the clause of the amendment does not give the commission the power to "locate" the road, because the region in which Watkins' property lies and what the highway would traverse is not a "congested traffic area" and because it is not "adjacent" to St. Louis.

County Court Disapproved.

Belief is expressed in the suit that the commission acted under the clause providing for supplementary or "farm-to-market" roads in all counties. Supplementary roads, according to the amendment, must be laid out by the commission in agreement with officials of the county having charge of the local roads. In this case, the County Court has disapproved of the Clayton-Conway route and advocated some other routing. The suit also asserted that the superhighway could not comply with the provisions of another clause for 300 miles of additional state roads connecting existing state roads for the benefit of through traffic.

Regardless of which clause the proceeding was under, the petition continues, the commission lacks the power to condemn land for the superhighway because Section 8111 specifies condemnation may be exercised only for proper and economical construction, but it is charged that the Clayton-Conway route would not be proper and would be uneconomical construction because of the high value of the land required for right-of-way.

The commission's route is improper because it would not expedite through traffic, the suit asserts. Through traffic proceeding from the superhighway across St. Louis to Illinois would use Forest Park roads, ruining the park as a recreational center, or would use Oakland avenue, which already is overcrowded, the suit alleges. Traffic would have to cross Skinker boulevard, which already is heavily traveled, and mingle with congestion in Kingshighway, the petition goes on. Going east from Kingshighway, it adds, through traffic would have to use streets which are poorly paved or overcrowded already.

The objections of various civic organizations to the Clayton-Conway route and their advocacy of a route over Page avenue or Olive Street road, and an extension of Delmar boulevard, are recited in the suit.

The Clayton-Conway route traverses large estates between Lay and Warson roads, which are suitable only for quiet, restricted residential purposes, says the suit. Putting the superhighway there would damage this land, it is charged, and only small benefits could be collected from the adjacent property. It would cost $231,000 for right-of-way on the Clayton-Conway route in condemnation, compared with $29,000 on Page avenue, or $56,000 on Olive Street road, the petition estimates.

Fear is expressed that the presence of the superhighway would destroy the character of the neighborhood by unsightly buildings and billboards which it would attract and by dirt and noise caused by large numbers of trucks, busses and private automobiles. It is also feared that the superhighway would endanger the lives of persons attempting to cross it.

Alabama Power Co. Has New Plan to Obtain Monopoly of Electricity From Muscle Shoals

By PAUL Y. ANDERSON,
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1.— The Alabama Power Co., which for more than 10 years has waged a determined campaign for control of the Government's $175,000,000 electric power plant at Muscle Shoals, has inaugurated a new effort, its purpose apparently being to obtain a long-term contract for use of all the power generated at the plant. In its latest move the company obviously hopes to influence members of the next Congress, which is certain to consider again the Norris plan for Government generation and distribution of power.

During the last week members of Congress who are in Washington have received letters from Thomas W. Martin, president of the company, enclosing a pamphlet which argues that the Government would receive a much larger return on the property if it would grant a long-term contract to the Alabama Power. This seems to indicate that the company has receded from its demand for a lease on the plant, and would be satisfied with Government operation if assured of exclusive use of the power over a term of years.

Under the present arrangement, which the Government can terminate on 30 days' notice, the company purchases a relatively small amount of the power at an extremely low rate. The company attempts to justify the low rate on the ground that it cannot rely on future delivery of power. It contends that if the proposed five-year contract which it sought in 1928 had been accepted, the Government would be receiving $2,200,000 this year, instead of approximately $595,000.

Martin in his letter alludes to "industrial growth in the Tennessee River valley," and intimates that the company contemplates the construction of additional facilities which may render it independent of Muscle Shoals power. In other words, he suggests that unless Congress soon consents either to lease the plant or grant a long term contract for sale of the power, the plant may lose its value.

Members of Congress who favor Government generation and transmission of the power, declare that they are not impressed by the implied threat. It is known that a large number of cities and towns in the Tennessee valley are ready to purchase and distribute the entire output of the plant whenever the Government is ready to sell it to them.

The rate at which the Government now is selling its power to the Alabama company is a small fraction of the rates which that company charges its consumers.

Seven Proposals for Muscle Shoals Operation Received.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1. — The Muscle Shoals Commission decided late today to extend indefinitely the period within which proposals may be submitted for leasing and operating of the Muscle Shoals project.

Indications have reached the commission, it was said, that three or four more firms would submit proposals if furnished with additional data regarding the capacity and cost of operation of nitrate plants Nos. 1 and 2.

Proposals from seven bidders were opened today. Two were individuals and were F. E. Castleberry, Freeport, La., and Lloyd H. Smith, Battle Creek, Mich. The other bidders were the Davidson Chemical Co., Baltimore, Md., the Chemical Development Co., New York City; the Tennessee Electric Power Co., Chattanooga, Tenn.; the Alabama Power Co., Birmingham, Ala., and the Bally Furnace Co., Canton, O.

Details of today's proposals were witheld, as were the names of the companies which are expected to bid when furnished with additional information.

An appeal to the commission in behalf of the fertilizer industry was made by Charles J. Brand, executive secretary of the National Fertilizer Association.

The commission chairman, S. F. Hobbs of Selma, Ala., said the burden of Brand's plea was "please let us alone."

Hobbs said Brand told the committee that there now was on hand a surplus of fertilizer sufficient to supply the world need for some time to come. The commission late in the day conferred with President Hoover.

Hobbs said he was "delighted" with some of the seven proposals received. He added that in addition several firms had asked the opportunity to submit proposals later and that this would be allowed.

About half of the proposals, Hobbs said, contemplated a dam at Cove Creek which Hobbs said the commission considered an "integral part" of the Muscle Shoals development.

LARGE MEXICO CITY CHURCH BOMBED, ALTAR IS DAMAGED

By the Associated Press.

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 1. — The bombing of La Profesa Church, second largest in the city, resulting in considerable damage to the main altar but no injuries, was under investigation today.

A woman said a young man warned her to leave the building. As she was passing out of the doors she heard an explosion and saw the man dash into the street.

There were about six other people in the church at the time. No one was injured but in addition to the damaged altar a pulpit and several confession booths were demolished.

Police suspect that the bomber was sent by anti-clericals of Vera Cruz, where a series of church bombings has occurred. The incident was the first serious anti-Catholic demonstratoin in the capital since settlement two years ago of the church-state controversy.

DOAK'S AID FIRED IN DISPUTE OVER HELP TO VETERANS

Francis I. Jones, on Request, Resigns as Director General of Employment Service.

SAYS ORGANIZATION IS INEFFECTIVE

In Letter to Cabinet Officer He Charges Him With Trying to Abolish Agency Assisting Ex-Soldiers.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1—Charging that the reorganized Federal Employment Service is "unsatisfactory and bitterly disappointing" Francis I. Jones resigned as director general of that branch of the Labor Department yesterday.

In a 1500-word letter to Secretary of Labor Doak, Jones charged the Cabinet officer with having attempted to abolish the veterans' specialized employment service.

Jones' resignation was not unexpected. It had been known for some time that he and Secretary Doak and John R. Alpine, supervising director of the service, were not in accord.

On Aug. 13 Alpine addressed a letter to Jones asking for his resignation, effective Aug. 31. The letter asserted that "it has been apparent since the institution of the plan of reorganization and expansion of the United States employment service that your services have been exceedingly unsatisfactory and not conducive to the best results."

Letter to Doak.

Jones wrote Doak that "unwittingly you have paid me a fine compliment in confirming the fact that in no degree am I responsible for the present ineffective set-up.

"As the records of the service will disclose," he continued, "the present set-up is unsatisfactory and bitterly disappointing and it is a source of extreme gratification to me to know that I had no part in establishing it. * * *

"You and the supervising director went on record as not favoring a specialized employment service for war veterans by issuing instructions to all superintendents of specialized veterans employment offices to remove their 'specialized employment service for veterans' signs and to convert the offices into general placement offices. In thus abolishing the veterans employment offices you would have defied the expressed will of Congress."

"For Good of Service."

Secretary of Labor Doak said the resignation of Jones was demanded for the 'good of the service." He added: "The service will benefit by his departure."

A letter was made public by E. C. Babcock, national commander of the disabled American Veterans, saying the veterans' employment office had co-operated heartily with the disabled veterans organization in finding employment "for the 65,000 unemployed but employable veterans whose disabilities resulted from war service."

"This outfit received the assistance of your department in formulating this program, not from Mr. Jones, who was lukewarm to it, but from Mr. John R. Alpine," the letter said.

61,000 DISABLED VETERANS REPORTED OUT OF EMPLOYMENT

These Are Men Who Are Able to Work, but Unable to Find Jobs.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1.—More than 61,000 disabled veterans of the World War were reported out of jobs today by E. C. Babcock, national commander of the Disabled American Veterans.

Babcock's announcement was based on a questionnaire sent by the Veterans' Administration to nearly 300,000 men on its compensation rolls. Returns from nearly half of them showed 46,424 employed; 61,666 out of work and 11,278 unemployable.

The veterans' organization made arrangements in July for co-operation between the Veterans' Administration and the Federal employment service to find jobs for the partially disabled qualified former service men.

Plan to Cut Finland's Payroll.

By the Associated Press.

HELSINGFORS, Finland, Sept. 1.—A proposal to reduce the salaries of Deputies 10 per cent, those of married civil servants 5 per cent and those of unmarried civil servants 10 per cent has been presented to Parliament. It also is proposed to help agriculture by decreeing that a fixed percentage of home-grown grain be mixed with foreign rye, oats and barley.

CHAPMAN-DOLLAR-DAWSON GROUP TO GET U. S. LINES

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1.—The Shipping Board today decided to negotiate a contract with the Chapman-Dollar-Dawson interests for sale of the United States Lines.

The contract as negotiated will be presented to the board for approval before its final execution. The announcement by the board added, but Chairman O'Connor indicated this would be for approval only of its technical terms.

The action was announced in the following statement: "The Shipping Board at its meeting today directed that the Merchant Fleet Corporation proceed to negotiate a contract with the Chapman-Dollar-Dawson interests as provided for and in accordance with action of the board Aug. 21, 1931. The contract as negotiated will then, of course, be presented to the board for approval before final execution."

Chairman O'Connor when asked whether this meant definite elimination of the International Mercantile Marine-Roosevelt Steamship Co., the other bidder for the lines, replied by calling attention to the phrase in the statement which said a contract was to be negotiated with the Chapman interests.

GANDHI PUTS ON BLANKET TO KEEP WARM ON LINER

Loin Cloth Affords Inadequate Protection to Delegate to London Parley.

ABOARD THE S. S. RAJPUTANA, EN ROUTE TO LONDON, Sept. 1.—Mahatma Gandhi, on the way from Bombay to attend the Indian round table conference at London, has added a homespun blanket to the meager costume he usually wears.

The loin cloth, which ordinarily is his only garment, was inadequate protection against the chill winds of the sea, and it appeared likely that he would wear the blanket also at London.

The Mahatma is not a very good sailor and Miss Madeleine Slade, his English disciple, is the worst sailor in the party, even if she is an Admiral's daughter. Davidas Ghandi, the Mahatma's son, has taken over most of her duties.

Popular English Novelist Dead

SIR HALL CAINE,

SIR HALL CAINE, ONCE WEALTHIEST WRITER, 78, DIES

By the Associated Press.

DOUGLAS, Isle of Man, Sept. 1.—Sir Hall Caine, novelist, once said to be the wealthiest writer in the world, died last night after an illness of several weeks. He was 78 years old.

Lady Caine and his two sons, Ralph Hall Caine and Derwent Hall Caine, and Attorney-General Moore of the Isle of Man, were at the bedside in Greeba Castle when the end came.

Born in poverty, Hall Caine was educated to be an architect but never took to the profession. He was a journalist for a while until Dante Gabriel Rosetti, poet-painter, invited him to London to become his secretary and companion.

For 50 years Caine was a prolific writer for the stage and the screen. "The Deemster" and "The Manxman" were among his first successes. "The Eternal City," "The Bondman," "The Christian" and "The Woman Thou Gavest Me" came later.

King Albert of the Belgians made him an officer of the Order of Leopold for his editorship of the War Book and King George knighted him in 1918 for his picture of the British side of the war.

Although in his day his earnings were enormous—in one year his play royalties were said to be $450,000—later day writers probably have exceeded them although definite figures are not generally obtainable.

520% INCREASE in Electrolux Sales!

That's why St. Louis sales of Electrolux, the gas refrigerator, increased 520% during the first 7 months of 1931 over the same period last year.

THIS sale increase is especially significant right now when people are buying more carefully, more shrewdly, than ever before. Folks aren't spending their money foolishly. They're buying things that bring health, comfort and better living. They're investigating more thoroughly . . . shopping . . . comparing values . . . matching similar merchandise feature for feature, point for point . . . that's why Electrolux sales have increased.

Electrolux is really the modern refrigerator — there is no other like it on the market. All models are on display at our main store, Olive at Eleventh. Choose the model best suited to your requirements and you can be sure of having silent, dependable refrigeration at the lowest possible cost.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

France's Role in Europe.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

TAKING exception to Oswald Garrison Villard's clear-cut presentation of the European situation, Jeff Mackay reminds us that within half a century France has twice been invaded by Germany; but he forgets to mention that the 1870-71 war originated in France's fear of Germany's legitimate unification, while the 1914 catastrophe was brought about more by French striving for "revanche" than by any other cause.

Mr. Villard has understated rather than overstated the case of French responsibility for the severity of the prevailing world unrest. And it seems to the writer that, far from making any attempt to mitigate the existing conditions, France will endeavor to accentuate and aggravate them by all the means at her command. Realizing that now or never is the time for her to fulfill her "mission" and satisfy her ambition for lording it over Europe, she will not be swayed from her path of national aggrandizement by considerations of economic world recovery, nor will she be found ready to admit that the hour of greatest French glory might well ring in the doom of the white man's cherished civilization.

American men and women wishing to prevent the spectacle of new assaults upon the dignity of man, and anxious to promote the cause of human progress, will do well to remember that the principles of truth and justice always have been and forever will be the only reliable guideposts on the road to peace and progress. They will, therefore, urge their representatives in Congress to pass the Shipstead bill, so as to clarify the treacherous question of sole German war guilt, and thereby remove the greatest obstacle in the path of peaceful progress.

And immediately thereafter they will insist on the clear definition and strict formulation of international rights and duties, thereby laying the foundation for a real, forceful law of nations, such as will secure the privilege of self-determination and establish perfect freedom for all the peoples of the earth.

Evanescence.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

BEHIND the mist the oval of her face
Becomes a fragile moon where intermingle
Unquiet clouds into a shining, single Serenity; and starbeams interlace
In sweet design, and tranquilly retrace
In innocent repose; and all the tender

And falling dew. A wraith with starry eyes
Until the mist is scattered, and the spear
Of morning strikes the hilltop; then I fear
That she must leave me utterly, and fade
Into the silence of eternal skies.

CARDINAL LE GROS.

The Capture of Varennes.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

WHO captured Varennes, a key point in the Meuse-Argonne drive, which began Sept. 26, 1918? A monument at Varennes praises Pennsylvania troops for the feat, and Fred Tenney, president of the Thirty-fifth Division Association, says the town was taken on Sept. 26 by the 137th Infantry, and that Pennsylvania troops occupied the city after the 137th moved on in the Argonne battle. Tenney was a Sergeant in the 137th.

May I make a contribution to this discussion, quoted from Kenamore's "The Story of the 139th Infantry"? It is as follows:

> The attack was made by the 60th Brigade, with the 137th Regiment on the left half of the divisional front. The 139th Regiment advanced behind the 137th. While the forward regiments, the 137th and the 138th, were becoming entangled and mixed because of the fighting in the fog, Ristine (commanding officer of the 139th) succeeded in keeping his regiment clear and in order. The regiment moved forward in columns of battalions with companies and platoons in staggered formation. As the 139th approached the defenses of Varennes, it found the 137th was immediately in front of it and held up by the opposition. The 139th dug in, as there was considerable artillery fire, and waited. It was not long before the reserve battalion of the 137th came up behind the 139th. This battalion had been in some way passed by the 139th in the advance. Ristine waited two hours, then went forward and asked Col. Hamilton, commanding the 137th, what delayed his advance. Col. Hamilton's regiment had suffered from intermingling and mixture of troops, and when it was stopped by the Varennes defenses and had lain for some time under the heavy and concentrated fire upon it, the Colonel was doubtful whether or not he could make headway against the enemy position.
> Ristine returned to his regiment and sent a runner to the Brigade Commander, telling him of the condition of the 137th and asking permission to take the 139th forward and continue the fight. He received no answer to that message or to another similar one which he sent afterward. The 139th was beginning to suffer from the bombardment and Ristine feared that the morale of his outfit would go down if he held them inactive any longer. Being unable to get any answer from his Brigade Commander, he put his regiment in formation and went forward. Ristine did not attack frontally, but took his command around the hills with very little damage to the regiment, and as soon as the Germans found him in their rear they evacuated the position.

When they revise that monument at Varennes to include the 137th, it might be well to say a word about the 139th.

JUDGE BROWN VS. THE APPELLATE COURT

Circuit Judge Brown of Madison County has issued an injunction restraining the Sheriff and State's Attorney from interfering in the operation of the dog racing plant of the Madison Kennel Club. The injunction order is returnable Oct. 19, which means the dog tracks may operate until that day without fear of legal reprisals.

Judge Brown's action is astonishing, in view of the case of the Hawthorne Kennel Club of Chicago, decided in May, 1930, by the Appellate Court of Illinois. The Hawthorne Club in 1928 was granted a temporary injunction by Circuit Judge Harry M. Fisher of Chicago similar to the injunction granted by Judge Brown. The case went to the Supreme Court, which held that dog racing had not been legalized by statute. That court refused, on the ground of lack of jurisdiction, however, to pronounce a definite judgment that it was illegal, referring the case to the Appellate Court.

The Appellate Court's decision, handed down May 16, 1930, held that pari-mutuel betting, the feature of dog racing which makes it profitable, is out-and-out gambling, in plain violation of the State gaming act and the pool selling act of 1887. The decision set aside Judge Fisher's temporary injunction and sharply reprimanded him for continuing the temporary order to permit the dog track operators to appeal. The court said:

> That such a plain violation of the law should be countenanced and prolonged under forms of judicial procedure is so repugnant to the theory on which the courts are organized as not to be viewed with complacency, and therefore must be condemned.

We are unable to note a distinction between the action of Judge Fisher and the action of Judge Brown, except that the latter's injunction was granted after the higher courts of Illinois had pronounced judgment on dog racing, and is, therefore, even more to be wondered at.

Judge Bernreuter, sitting in the same jurisdiction with Judge Brown, has been a consistent foe of dog racing and has been instrumental this summer in keeping the plant of the Madison Kennel Club closed, with the exception of six days of racing held while the Judge was on a vacation in Colorado. It was Judge Bernreuter who issued the closing order against the Kingshighway Kennel Club, which has never made an attempt to reopen and is now in the hands of receivers. Of Judge Brown's order, Judge Bernreuter said:

> It is very unusual for an associate Judge to take such an action, counter to his associate on the bench, and hitherto we have always respected one another's orders and procedure.

A law passed by the Illinois Legislature in 1927 made horse racing and pari-mutuel betting legal, but provided specifically against racing after sundown. The Madison Kennel Club, however, contends that the pool selling, or bookmakers' act, of 1887 set up a system under which the dog track may operate legally, and that the 1887 act was not repealed by the 1927 law.

The same point, presumably, was considered by the Appellate Court in May, 1930. In any case, regardless of tortuous technicalities, the Appellate Court held pari-mutuel gambling, except as exempted in the 1927 law, to be illegal.

Who is right, Judge Brown or the higher court?

THE "SHOESTRING" GETS AN ISSUE.

L. L. Collins of Springfield, Mo., was as good as his word. He sent letters to John W. Palmer of Sedalia, and Robert D. Johnson of Marshall, respectively Republican and Democratic candidates for the Major vacancy in Congress, asking them to tell the voters of the Seventh District how they stood on prohibition. If neither came out for repeal, he would enter the race as an independent on that basis, he said. No such announcement came from either, so Mr. Collins, three times Prosecuting Attorney of Pemiscot County, is in the race. His friends said it took but a few minutes to get enough names on his petition. This development injects a real issue into the "shoestring" district campaign, which so far has been mostly talk. Our guess is that Mr. Collins will make both of the regular candidates wish they had not sidestepped, but faced the situation squarely.

BASEBALL AND TOWNBALL.

Many experts consider the Cardinals the best-balanced team in the major leagues, and it would not surprise any of these students of the game to see Sergeant Street and his men defeat the Athletics.

Which reminds us of a very amusing thing about the Cardinals that is not generally recognized. In addition to giving the best exhibition of baseball to be seen in the country, the Cardinals are also the world champions at townball. They showed what they can do in this respect last Saturday, when they gave the game to Pittsburg by a score of 8 to 2. The Cardinal defense is ordinarily so sharp and perfect that great crowds all over the circuit turn out to see the national game at its best. The spectacle of Gelbert and Frisch co-operating around second base, with the ball flashing about almost faster than the eye can follow, is considered worth the price of admission by fans who forget all about this expertness being at the expense of their home teams.

Yet in Saturday's game the Cardinal defense was at times inferior to that of the team which tours the country in the flowing whiskers of the House of David. These latter gentlemen may at times pardonably trip on their beards, but that was not what the Cardinals were tripping on in the course of making five big errors. They were just playing townball and showing how it really should be played.

So that the Cardinals, in addition to what everybody else says of them, are also versatile. Whether baseball or townball, one must see them play it to realize why both sports have such a large following.

A WORD ABOUT AUGUST.

St. Louis has never "smote its bloomin' lyre" about August. The month has been an undesirable. A dry, faded, limping period, when the grass withered and age crept somehow into field and stream and sky, and death here and there touched the trees. Fairly hot, too, as a rule. But the August of 1931 has been a rubric affair. The rains have come and splashed the nights and washed the faces of the stars and silenced the electric fans and fetched forth blankets and sung a pattering lullaby to a sleeping city. And what a procession of days has swung by, carrying events of moment on their shoulders and painting the seasonal abundance in a new beauty. Never before did the Missouri peach blend its cream and cerise so perfectly. And the green gage plum distilled the bouquet of a rare vintage, and the Cardinals galloped away from the field, and the opera in Forest Park scaled new heights in art, and, instead of sighing vainly for the loin-cloth fashion of Gandhi, the St. Louisan bedecked himself in seemly attire and was happy. When it comes to showmanship, September has it all over August, but with all its vermilion and purple and gold, the September that makes its bow this morning will have to do a whale of a job to evoke the laudation and gratitude and worship which August has won by the greatest performance since time began ticking.

WAKE UP, ST. LOUIS!

The arrival of September with still nothing done about a community cannery emphasizes how indolently St. Louis sits by, allowing a golden opportunity to go to waste.

Four months from now and winter will have reduced untold families to destitution. Those who are able will be forced to contribute to the purchase of food to keep alive those who cannot provide for themselves. The cost of all this will be greatly increased if St. Louis lacks leadership to take advantage of the bounties of garden, field and orchard while those products are available for conserving. Meanwhile, from everywhere come reports of community canneries at work storing against winter. In rural sections conserving is being done by county units. Down in New Madrid County, for example, community canning clubs, instructed by demonstrators from the county agent's office, and aided by the State Farm Bureau Federation, are busy at work. In Southern Illinois church basements have been turned into canning factories. Nature's abundance is being put away for the cold day. Closer home, in St. Louis County, similar activity is under way. For a week 10 traveling canning units of the Farm Bureau Federation have been in operation, volunteer workers conserving products donated by farmers. According to County Farm Adviser Meier, the plan is to continue canning until cold weather, all the food to be turned over to the County Welfare Association for distribution as needed. Indeed, the movement is so widespread that American Can is feeling it, in the stock market. The community canneries are chiefly using glass.

Yet in thriftless St. Louis nothing is done. And this despite the fact that it is in large centers of population, like St. Louis, where suffering will be most intense. East St. Louis has set us the good example of a large scale community cannery. Let St. Louis show the same providence. It is late, but not too late. Every hour counts.

STOWAWAYS FOR SPAIN.

Not long ago, when the steamer Rochambeau sailed from New York for Vigo, Spain, 21 patriots anxious to have a part in molding the new Republic were found to have stowed away. The other day the Rochambeau again sailed for Spain and, despite increased vigilance by ship officers, who found one hid in the crow's nest, no less than eight more patriots made their way out to sea. There is something inspiring in this willingness to risk jail on the part of these men. In the days of the monarchy some of them no doubt had to flee Spain for the sake of their lives. Now they are going back as best they can to make Spain the land of their dreams. Who knows how important a part penniless stowaways might play in the remaking of Spain? Lovers of liberty will hope the high purpose of their action is taken into account as they answer for their misdeeds.

NEGROES IN THE CENSUS.

Census figures just issued show an increase in Negro population more rapid than the gain for whites, and a heavy Negro migration to the North, particularly to industrial centers. The white race has an increase of 14.8 per cent in the 1930 tabulation, as compared with a gain of 16 per cent in 1920; Negroes have a rate of 13.6 per cent as against 6.5 per cent. The last decade's virtual cessation of immigration, nearly all of which added to the rate among whites, had a large effect on the changing figures.

The northward trek is indicated in these figures: Negroes increased only 5 per cent in the South, while they gained 63½ per cent in the North and 53 per cent in the West. Georgia, South Carolina, Virginia and Kentucky had smaller Negro populations in 1930 than in 1920, while the Negro population of New York doubled in the decade and that of Michigan almost tripled. In the South, the migration corresponded to the national trend to industrial centers. North Carolina, for instance, has attracted large numbers, while agricultural states have lost.

This tendency has made the Negro a heavy sufferer in the present industrial depression. The National Urban League finds unemployment among Negroes to be five or six times higher than their population status would warrant. The Negro thus has not bettered his economic position by leaving the land. He is paying a heavy price for listening to the call of Northern mills and factories that needed cheap labor in the late boom times but had a surplus when the pinch came. A back-to-the-farm movement for Negroes would better their condition and remove a heavy strain from relief organizations.

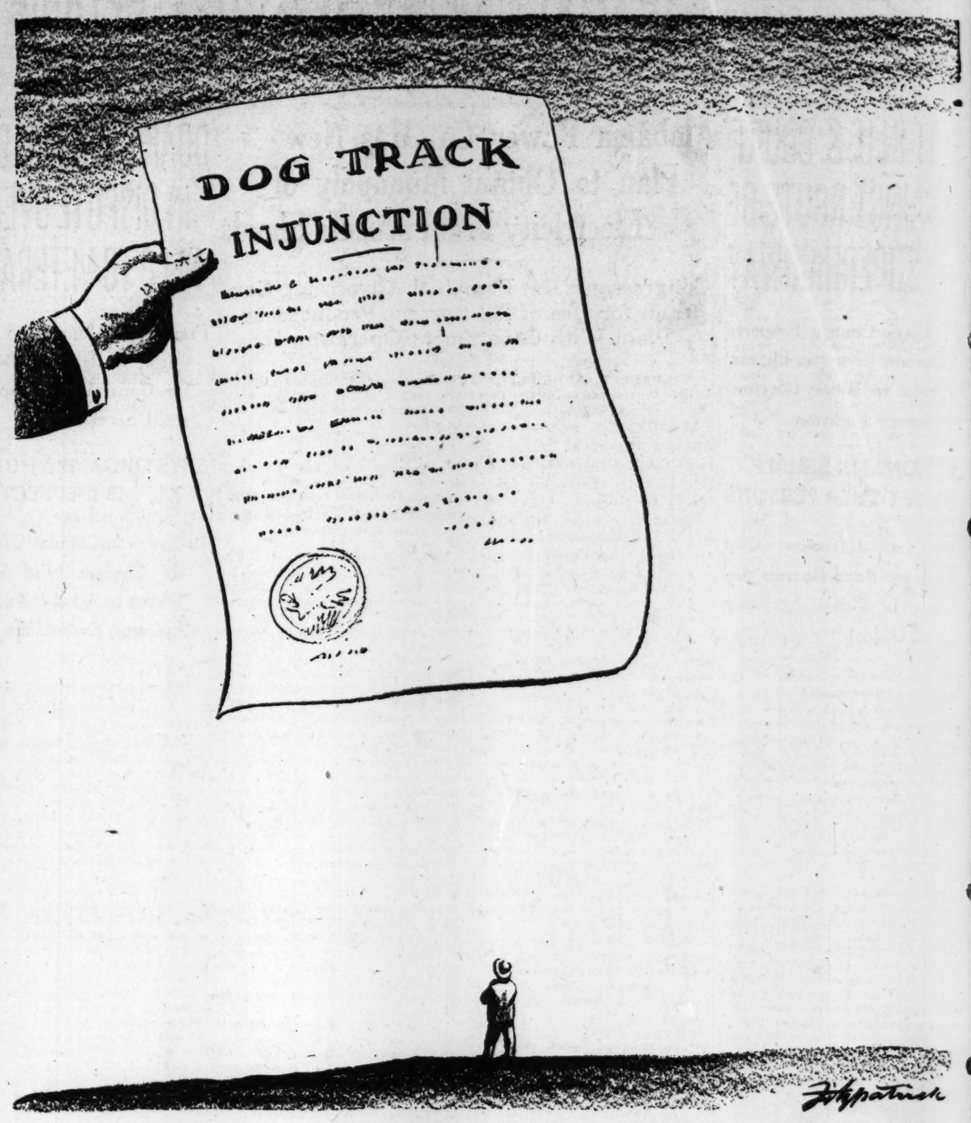
MR. HERRIOT SPEAKS.

Discussing hopefully the relations of France and Germany in the Sunday Post-Dispatch, Edouard Herriot made this significant statement:

> We Frenchmen know that the treaties of 1919 cannot remain unalterable for all eternity.

Frenchmen may be aware of it, but Mr. Herriot is, so far as we know, the first Frenchman of major political consequence to acknowledge it. The official attitude of France has been that the treaty of Versailles is final, subject to no erasure or revision. In standing for the letter of the bond, France has been alone. Enlightened opinion in other countries, following the recovery from the war fever, has recognized the fact that serious mistakes were made in that instrument which justice and good will would have to correct.

Mr. Herriot is a man of good will, with as clear a title to that quality as his more illustrious compatriot, Mr. Briand. He is wholly in character when he points out the truth that "unalterability" and "eternity" do not belong in the vocabulary of modern statesmanship. There is promise in his words.



CITIZEN: AND THEY EXPECT ME TO RESPECT LAW.

The American Distrust of Cities

Corruption of city governments laid to popular idea that municipal office is lowest in political rank; hence, it does not attract best leaders; widespread suspicion of cities as sinkholes of iniquity blocks solution of problem; reform possible only by viewing them as places where nation's activities are crystallized.

Walter Lippmann in the Woman's Home Companion.

IT is impossible not to be ashamed of the governments of New York, Chicago and Philadelphia, to name only the three largest. There is no denying that, by and large, the municipal standard of intelligence and integrity is low. It is still as true today, I suppose, as it was 40 years ago when Lord Bryce said it, that "there is no denying that the government of cities is the one conspicuous failure of the United States."

The American city has been our greatest failure because the American political tradition in respect to it is deeply ingrained with what it is now the fashion to call an inferiority complex. Municipal office is held to be the lowest rung on the ladder of politics. Americans assume as a matter of course that a successful politician is a man who is promoted upward and onward from the city to the state to the Federal Government. Nothing can persuade a man to move down the ladder. If he has been Governor he would not think of being Mayor; but if he is Mayor, he thinks all the time about being Governor.

It might almost be said that the honor we attach to public offices is based on the acreage in which they operate. All this is in part due to our American faith in competition by mere size and to our confusion of the biggest with the best. But it is due also to other causes, among them the subtle and pervasive fact that the underlying cultural tradition of America, the ideas put forth from our pulpits, assumed in our political orations, in our literature and our schoolbooks, is antagonistic to cities.

Listen, for example, to Thomas Jefferson: The mobs of great cities add just so much "to the support of pure government as sores do to the strength of the human body." We have never quite ceased to think of great cities as sores on the body politic.

Now it is impossible to govern cities well when men approach them believing that they are just so much corruption of healthy tissue. The American view of the city as a kind of dangerous disease is reinforced by the dominant religious tradition of the American people. They brought with them from England a great distrust of the manners, morals, pleasures and vices of cities. For these were the appurtenances of the upper classes, identified with the whole system of the established church and the court.

They were hoping in America to follow a religion which would approximate the purity of practice in the primitive church. They knew that cities are the breeding places of new ideas; that inevitably men become skeptical, tolerant, sophisticated and unbelieving, as cities grow in size and multiply the contacts of men with one another. The simple faiths dissolve in the cities, and with them the simple virtues. It has always been so. By the time of Socrates, the national religion of Greece had dissolved in Athens: medieval Christianity dissolved in the cities of the Renaissance, just as in America today what we call fundamentalism is dissolving as it comes into the orbit of urban civilization.

It has never been possible, therefore, for Americans to arrive at any working philosophy of city government which exalts its purposes and enlists their finest energies. The cities have not drawn upon the purest patriotism because the purest patriotism has despised the cities.

For years, while we have maintained our ideal of a rural society, we have been busily creating the most extensive urban society in the world. Less than a quarter of the nation now lives on farms. If, as Jefferson said, the proportion of urban to rural population is "a good enough barometer to measure" the "degree of corruption" in a nation, then by his standards the United States is between 75 and 80 per cent corrupt.

Unless we are to accept this damning measure of ourselves, we shall have to change Jefferson's barometer. For while a balance of city and country is desirable and worth maintaining with every resource of statesmanship, we shall have to stop thinking that cities are social diseases.

The true view of cities, I think, is to regard them as places where the activities of the whole nation come to a head. New York and Chicago and Kansas City were not created by their present inhabitants but by the American people in the course of 250 years of working and living and legislation. They are not islands, without bridges to the mainland, to that "real America" which we are often told lies beyond the city limits. The sidewalks of New York are as American in their origin as the farms of Kansas. For even the newest immigrant on those sidewalks is there because American opportunities have drawn him from Europe and American institutions and laws have opened the gates for him.

To say that city government is a difficult problem is to say that American civilization is a difficult problem. There is no way to separate the cities from the nation. Upon the cities are concentrated the extreme consequences, the concrete results, of that revolution in the manner of men's life which modern science is working. They have grown at furious speed because railroads and steam and machinery draw people together into crowds for the production of wealth. Because people are drawn together they are confronted with the problem of living together. The problem of city government is, in fact, simply the problem of living together in great masses.

The government of cities is the most original and least understood undertaking in the whole sphere of government. It is concerned with every bewilderment that the modern age presents. The problems of the state governments and of the national Government are difficult enough. I do not wish to minimize them nor to deny that failures in them may not be more momentous than the failure of a city government. But intellectually they are simpler. I believe that it is easier to be a great President than to be a great Mayor.

READING THE PUBLIC MIND.

From the Arizona Producer.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1.

MRS. CALVIN COOLIDGE has changed her gown, and by popular demand. Not the Mrs. Coolidge of Northampton and The Beeches, but the Mrs. Coolidge who stands with other first ladies in the famous costume collection at the Smithsonian Institution.

All of the former mistresses of the White House stand arrayed in the Smithsonian in gowns worn at some state function. Although Mrs. Herbert Hoover's gown already has been selected and the wax figure made, permission has not been given as yet for it to be installed.

Mrs. Coolidge sent as her contribution a long-skirted white satin gown. Visitors to the collection—and, incidentally, it is one of the most popular—began to complain that Mrs. Cooulidge didn't look like herself.

MRS. SOL BLOOM, wife of the New York Congressman, heard of these complaints. They were so numerous that she decided to appeal to Mrs. Coolidge herself. Would the former first lady, suggested Mrs. Bloom, consider substituting for the white satin a certain rose red gown which she had worn on a certain important occasion?

Mrs. Coolidge agreed. The gown, with slippers, hosiery and all accompanying equipment, was forwarded to Washington. But, while Mrs. Coolidge was willing that the change be made, she insisted that the original gown must be kept in the Smithsonian collection. There was a promise that she had to fulfill.

Then she disclosed how in the early days of her stay at the White House she needed a gown for a special occasion. The modiste from whom she ordered it kept his staff working after hours that it might be ready in time. Mrs. Coolidge was grateful and, with one of those gestures which made her so popular in Washington, promised: "When I send a gown to be displayed with the gowns of other White House hostesses, it will be the one you made for me."

SO now, in a collection that depicts the complete sartorial history of this country's women, Mrs. Coolidge is shown in an American Beauty chiffon frock, made short, sleeveless and with its narrow girdle of rhinestones set at the hipline in a fashion which has come and gone. But in the collection there is still the original white satin.

Incidentally, the heels of the slippers sent in the second ensemble were considerably higher than those of the first. The figure so inclined to the front that it was necessary to remove it again to make adjustments.

HAMPERING REFORM.

From the Boston Transcript.

A TEMPERANCE organization in Kansas succeeded in getting a bootlegger in jail. The prisoner berated the leader of the organization for ingratitude. "You folks busted up the greatest temperance movement in this county for years," he said. "I was selling them fellows whisky that was diluted as high as 75 per cent, and if you had left me alone another month, I'd a' had 'em drinking pure water."

"I'm over 45!" SAYS NANCE O'NEIL

Famous Stage and Screen Star tells the Secret of keeping Youthful Charm

"I'M over 45—you see I admit so much," says Nance O'Neil. "Perhaps I should admit more, but it is said that a woman is as old as she looks, and a man as old as he feels.

"One of these photographs of me was made last summer. The others were taken along the way from the time I started in the theater

"For my part, I don't think anyone, especially women, should tag themselves with dates, and I believe the world in general would be happier and better if birthdays were never recorded, for as time goes on it cannot but bring with it a sense of limitation which I am sure we all want to be free from.

"Constructive thought and care of the skin are certainly two things that always help one to escape the marks of time.

"Any woman who knows how to keep her complexion youthful can be charming at any age.

"Stage and screen stars know that a skin softly smooth and aglow always has appeal. Several years ago I discovered that regular care with Lux Toilet Soap would do wonders for my skin, and now I am among the scores of stage and screen stars who use it regularly."

Hollywood's favorite Complexion Care

Of the 613 important Hollywood actresses, including all stars, 605 heartily agree with this beautiful star! So regularly do they use this fragrant white soap to guard complexion beauty, it has been made official in all the great film studios.

Stage stars, too, have so long been insistent on Lux Toilet Soap for regular complexion care, they find this luxurious soap in the dressing rooms of theaters all over the country!

NANCE O'NEIL

Who would dream, looking at this photograph taken in 1930, that she is over 45! With so many stage successes behind her, she is today a popular favorite of the screen, still radiantly charming. "Stage and screen stars must guard complexion beauty above everything else," she says. "It's youth that wins hearts!"

SUES COMPANY ON GROUND IT MADE HUSBAND DRINK

Woman Seeks $250,000 from Oil Firm, Asserting It Told Him to Entertain Visitors.

By the Associated Press.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 1.—The California Supreme Court has granted Mrs. Ruth Wheeler the right to sue the Shell Oil Co. for $250,000 on the ground that the company made a drunkard of her husband, Joseph C. Wheeler, former company manager for Southern California and Arizona.

At the same time, the Court referred to the "difficulties," well-nigh insuperable, of the plaintiff proving the facts necessary to recovery of damages."

Wheeler, whose former salary was $1000 a month, was discharged. Mrs. Wheeler sued in Los Angeles Superior Court on allegations that the company made Wheeler a drunkard by ordering him to entertain visitors and drink with them. The company appealed on the ground that the section of the Volstead act under which Mrs. Wheeler sued was unconstitutional.

LORD READING'S SECRETARY' NOW HIS WIFE, BACK ON JOB

"Working Harder Than Ever," She Says After Honeymoon Is Cut Short.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, Sept. 1.—Lady Reading is back at her old job as secretary to her husband. She told the Daily Herald that she and Lord Reading, former Viceroy of India, had cut short their honeymoon in Paris when he was called to become the foreign secretary of the new National Government.

Seated in front of a desk piled high with affairs of state, she said: "I think I am working harder now than ever. But I could not bear to give it up altogether."

Lady Reading, the former Stella Charnaud, was a member of Lord Reading's staff in India for five years and returned to London as his secretary. He is 70 and she is 33. When they were married on Aug. 6, she said: "I am still going to be the perfect private secretary."

BELGIAN ON TRIAL IN ROME

Professor Accused of Anti-Fascist Activity.

By the Associated Press.

ROME, Sept. 1.—Leo J. Moulin, young Belgian professor who was arrested here last April on charges of anti-Fascist activity, went on trial today before a special tribunal for defense of the state. He acknowledged that he had brought with him from Belgium a trunk with a false bottom in which he kept letters and papers having to do with information gathered in Italy for friends, but disavowed any intention of engaging in activities offensive to the Italian government.

One of the friends for whom he was gathering information in Italy, he said, was Giovanni Bassanesi, the anti-Fascist aviator who flew from Switzerland a year ago to drop propaganda over Milan.

SIR HALL CAINE, ONCE WEALTHIEST WRITER, 78, DIES

when, on rare occasions, he attempted humor. Nevertheless, he gave ample evidence of his ability for fluent, graphic writing. It seemed he always had in mind a dual purpose for his work—to please the reading public and then present the same subject dramatized so that it would appeal to theater-goers.

His first writings to attract attention were "Sonnets of Three Centuries" and "Recollections of Rosetti," both published in 1882, and they were followed a year later by "Life of Coleridge" and "Cobwebs of Criticism."

For nearly 50 years thereafter he produced novels and plays, many of the latter being dramatized versions of his books.

He wrote "Darby and Joan," as an original movie story.

Sir Hall visited the United States several times and on one occasion went to Canada as Ambassador of the British Authors' League to negotiate terms with the Dominion Government relative to Canadian copyright.

RURAL LETTER CARRIERS IN CONVENTION IN CITY

Congressman Kendall of Pennsylvania to Be Guest of Honor at Dinner Tonight.

Seventy-five delegates of the National Federation of Rural Letter Carriers are holding their biennial convention at the American Annex Hotel. The women's auxiliary is holding its convention at the same time.

Congressman Samuel A. Kendall of Pennsylvania will be guest of honor at a dinner tonight at Hotel Jefferson. Committees were appointed and reports given during sessions yesterday. Postmaster A. J. Michener addressed the delegates. The convention will end Thursday.

The purpose of the organization is to urge legislative bodies to pass laws for the improvement of the mail service.

Low Bidders for Madden Dam.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1.—The W. E. Callahan Construction Co. of St. Louis, Mo., and Peterson, Shirley & Gunther of Omaha, Neb., were apparent low bidders today for the construction of the Madden dam in Panama. Their bid was $4,047,407.

DENVER POLICEMAN SLAIN

DENVER, Colo., Sept. 1.—Patrolman William Keating died late last night from bullet wounds he received yesterday in attempting to arrest two Gary (Ind.) youths for questioning.

Police said the youths, Fonald Ray, 20 years old, and William Piskoty, 23, had admitted the shooting. Pete Peterson, also of Gary, is in jail for investigation. Keating died after 31 persons, including 28 members of the Police Department, volunteered to give their blood in an effort to save his life. One transfusion was given, his sister, Mrs. Julia Metzger, supplying the blood.

CITY AND P. S. CO. COMPROMISE ON GRAVOIS PAVING

Work Between Eighteenth and Arsenal Will Start at Once on Widened Portion.

Paving of the section of widened Gravois avenue between Eighteenth and Arsenal streets is to be started at once, under a compromise agreement reached by representatives of the Public Service Co. and the city at City Hall yesterday.

The company has not decided whether it will seek to have reversed the decision by the State Public Service Commission a week ago, which refused the company's application to abandon its tracks in that stretch. However, the company has agreed to place a temporary filling in the track space in the center of the widened street while the controversy continues. This is acceptable to the city.

The present tracks will be removed by the company and the Bellefontaine and Tower Grove lines will be rerouted temporarily. The city will leave a 17½-foot gap in the center of the new pavement. If the car company cannot overturn the commission's ruling, it will lay new tracks in this gap and pave the space. If the company finally gets permission to abandon the tracks, a decision will have to be made as to what shares, if any, of the cost of paving the gap must be borne, respectively, by the company, the city and adjacent property owners Must Decide by Friday.

In the meantime, macadam probably will be used by the company to fill the gap after the new pavement is laid. General Manager Greenland said yesterday that no decision as to an appeal from the commission order had been reached, but a company lawyer said it was likely the commission would be asked for a new hearing. The company has until Friday to make such a request of the commission.

The Board of Public Service awarded contracts today for paving the street with asphalt, except for the central space. Low bids for this work, aggregating $288,022.50, were received more than a month ago. One bid, $160,636.04 for the section between Eighteenth street and Jefferson avenue, was from the Trinidad Asphalt Manufacturing Co. The other, $128,336.46, for the section between Jefferson and Arsenal street, was from the Bridges Asphalt Paving Co.

The Trinidad job will require about 18 weeks to complete and the Bridges work 13 weeks. The cost is divided between the city and the adjacent property owners. Paving of the extension of Gravois between Eighteenth and Twelfth streets virtually has been completed. In the stretch between Arsenal street and Grand boulevard the Public Service Co. has shifted its Cherokee car tracks and paving, now under way, will be finished about Oct. 1.

Bellefontaine Rerouting.

The car company will reroute the Bellefontaine line from California and Gravois avenues to Eighteenth street and Geyer avenue, when the paving gets under way. These cars will follow California and Arsenal, will be rerouted by way of Grand and Lafayette avenue. A temporary shuttle bus will be operated by the company over Arsenal and Gravois from Grand and Arsenal to Jefferson and Gravois. President Kinsey of the Board of Public Service said the board would approve these temporary arrangements until the controversy over the tracks is settled.

Permission had been sought by the company from the Public Service Commission to abandon its tracks in Gravois between Mississippi avenue (a block west of eighteenth) and Arsenal, and to reroute the Bellefontaine and Tower Grove lines permanently, substituting a new bus line. The company wanted to escape the cost of shifting the location of its tracks and repaving in connection with the widening. The city and property owners of the district objected to the company's scheme.

$100,000 SUIT FILED OVER PERFORMING OF AUTOPSY

Suit for $100,000 damages was filed in Federal Court yesterday against Coroner John O'Connell of St. Louis County, Dr. Leo P. FitzGerald, Health Commissioner of University City, and five other men, who are alleged to have been responsible for an autopsy being performed on the body of William Starizna, the victim of an automobile accident.

The suit was filed by Mr. and Mrs. Abraham Starizna, St. Paul, Minn., parents of William, who was 25 years old. According to the petition, Starizna was killed near Granite City on July 2, and was buried in B'nai Amoona Cemetery, in University City, July 4. Two days later, the petition states, the body was exhumed, "the shroud was roughly torn away, and the body mutilated by the defendants, who performed these acts in the open cemetery in full view of the curious." The plaintiffs state that the autopsy was performed without their knowledge and consent, and caused them "severe mental anguish, shame and humiliation." The suit asks $50,000 actual damages and a like sum for punitive damages.

Other defendants are Dr. Downey L. Harris, Coroner's physician; Patrolmen George H. Turner and E. C. Coffin, and George Morbeck and J. W. Riley, Health Department officers, all of University City.

The autopsy was performed because Starizna's body was buried by Herbert I. Berger, an undertaker, without a permit. Berger subsequently obtained a proper permit, but was fined $20 and costs for the violation.

Brooklyn Gangster Fusillade.
By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—Brooklyn automobile police patrols were doubled today as a result of a gang shooting last night, which smashed a show case in a lingerie shop and frightened a dozen women shoppers. A sedan with six men drew up on Sutter avenue, and opened shotgun fire at a pool room adjoining the lingerie shop. The slugs entered the shop instead of the poolroom. Nobody was injured. Police said the sedan contained gangsters who have been fighting for control of slot machines.

BEAUTY SEEKS DIVORCE FROM GARDNER SMITH

Wife Charges He Knocked Her Down to Show Her He Was Boss.

Mrs. Eleanor H. Smith, 326 West avenue, Clayton, filed suit today to divorce Gardner M. Smith, head of a shoe findings business, whose arrest she caused Saturday, when she obtained warrants charging him with taking two fur scarfs from her and beating her. She alleges general indignities.

Mrs. Smith, 23 years old and a former beauty contest winner, met Smith, who is 37, in June, 1929, when he was demonstrating gliders at a country club. A few days later, June 12, they were married. Her petition relates that they separated twice after quarrels before the final separation which she says was a week ago yesterday.

Smith sued for divorce in October, 1929, but a reconciliation followed a month later, and according to Mrs. Smith's divorce petition, they "went to New York on a second honeymoon."

There, the petition goes on, she was in need of hosiery and underwear and Smith would not give her the money to buy them. On their return, she alleges, he left her.

Smith returned after a week, however, the petition recites, and things went smoothly until October, 1930, when he "knocked her down to show that he was the boss." He stopped their charge accounts, "knocking her down when she complained," the petition states.

Her petition alleges she has had to provide clothes and necessaries for herself since last Jan. 1. She asks for alimony, alleging Smith has an income of $700 a month, and restoration of her maiden name, Eleanor Weber.

Smith said he expected to file a cross-bill and that he anticipated no difficulty in upholding his reputation. He denied the charge made by his wife in the warrant for his arrest on the assault charge, that he had knocked a tooth out when he struck her. It was, he said, a pivot tooth, which falls out whenever she gets excited.

When they separated first, shortly after their marriage, Mrs. Smith removed the furniture from their home and took with her the keys to their automobile. Smith had the automobile towed to a garage, where it was stored.

MARY FAITH
by Beatrice Burton

CHAPTER TWENTY-SEVEN.

BUT the next week Mrs. Farrell went downtown on a shopping trip and came home with a new hat of king's blue felt that brought out all the hollows and shadows of her face.

"I took five dollars of the housekeeping money and bought myself this hat," she confessed to Mary Faith when she came home. "I had to go up to see Dr. Thatcher and I hated to go in that gray hat of mine. I've worn that hat every time I've gone up there for the last three years."

She went downtown once every three or four weeks, and Mary Faith noticed that when she came home she always spoke of having seen Dr. Thatcher. And yet, so far as she knew, he never sent her a bill. Moreover she had no illness that she ever spoke of.

"Don't you think it's high time that Dr. Thatcher sent us a bill, Mother Farrell?" she asked now. "The baby is almost four months old. Next time you go down to his office perhaps you ought to say something to him about it."

Her mother-in-law shook her head in its gay new hat.

"No. He'll send it when he gets ready to," she replied. "He's an old friend of ours as well as our doctor, Mary Faith. And sometimes he doesn't send us a bill for a whole year. We must owe him money for years back. Every now and again I send him a little on account."

The chilly weeks of April passed and May was there with its green banners and its warm sunshine.

Mary Faith bought a little white go-cart and took the baby for long slow rides through Haltnorth Park and down River Street to see Mrs. Puckett.

Everything in the River street house was as it always had been.

Mr. McClintock still sat in the parlor all day, smoking cigars and reading endless newspapers and magazines. Agnes, the waitress, was still there to answer the doorbell and exclaim over the beauty of Mary Faith's baby. Nothing was changed except the color of Mrs. Puckett's hair. She had had it dyed a bright red instead of the familiar mahogany-brown.

On her way home Mary Faith would stop in at the Old Home circulating library on Terrace road opposite the park and pick out two or three books—a detective story for Kim and love stories or "problem" novels for herself and Mrs. Farrell.

THE library was at the back of the Old Home Book and Stationery Store, where Mary Faith had bought writing paper and magazines ever since she had come to live in the neighborhood years before; and it had always been in charge of a faded blond woman of uncertain age whose name was Miss Mehitabel Mather. A name that for some mysterious reason always made Mary Faith think of New England in the days of witch burning and stocks and pillories.

But one Saturday afternoon when she strolled down to the library to return an armful of books and pick out some new ones there was another woman in charge — not a woman really but a very pretty girl with ash-blond hair braided around her head and a pair of very large brown eyes.

"Miss Mather has gone away for a month's vacation, and I'll be here until she comes back," she told Mary Faith. "I'm her niece. My name is Mather, too."

She was very friendly and helpful, and she took down book after book from the shelves for Mary Faith's inspection.

"I can find plenty of books for myself," Mary Faith told her at last. "What I'm hunting for is a good western story or a mystery for my husband. You have so few. I think he's read almost every one you have here."

"How about a good sea story?" asked the girl, handing Mary Faith a dark blue book with the title Captain Macedoine's Daughter on it in large yellow letters.

"This looks all right. I'll take it," said Mary Faith. "Thanks for helping me, Miss Mather."

That night she and Kim went for a drive in the little car and stopped on the way home for a chocolate soda. They sat at the black counter in the drug store, sipping the sweet, cold liquid through long straws and smiling at each other in the wide mirror behind the counter.

KIM had no hat and coat on, and Mary Faith thought she had never seen him look so well as he did that night, with his hair rumpled by the wind and the collar of his shirt open, showing a triangle of skin that was several shades lighter than his ruddy sunburned face.

In the mirror she saw him turn his head and look at someone who had just come into the store—a tall slender girl with ash-blond hair braided around her head.

His eyes followed her as she walked to the back of the store and went into the telephone booth. Not until the door had closed behind her did he take them from her. There was an intent, eager look in them.

"Good-looking girl," he said briefly, setting his empty glass down upon the counter.

"Yes, I know her," answered Mary Faith. "She works in the circulating library in the book store—she's Miss Mather's niece. Kim, I don't understand you. I know you love me, but you're always picking out pretty girls and looking them over. Are all men like that? I never think of noticing a man. I never really see any man in the world but you."

"Don't you?" His engaging grin flashed out at her and he patted her hand as it lay on the counter.

"Then you're a good girl, and I'm for you."

And that was the only answer she got to her question.

It was half past four on Monday afternoon before she started out to take the baby for his afternoon stroll. Haltnorth Park was cool and green, and an old gardener was watering the grass near Mary Faith's favorite bench in the lilac walk.

The baby, rose-pink and bright-eyed from his afternoon nap, sat up against the little pillows of his cart and played with a blue-and-white rattle that Jean Bartlett had sent him. He made small bubbling noises with his little round O of a mouth, and Mary Faith watched him in great contentment from her seat on the bench.

SHE had brought four pairs of Kim's socks and some darning cotton and a needle with her, and by the time she had mended them it was half past five and the factory whistles were blowing in the distance.

"Time to start home, my small sweet man," she said to the baby, rolling the last pair of socks into a ball and dropping them into her mending bag. "Time to go home and put the baby to bed—time to get daddy his supper."——

She pushed the car along the shady gravel walk, talking as she went. Beyond the green spaces of the park passing automobiles flashed in the sunshine of Terrace road. The windows of the Old Home Book and Stationery Store were like fire and the gilded dome of the church next door to it was as bright as the setting sun.

Mary Faith crossed Terrace road directly in front of the bookstore, and just as she reached the curb she saw Kim standing in the doorway. He was not alone. Miss Mather's niece was beside him, and as Mary Faith looked at them they started along the sidewalk. They paused for a moment before the drug store. Then they turned and went into it.

It was 20 minutes after 6 when he came home.

Mary Faith heard him when he came in. She heard him say hello to his mother. She heard him say, "Where's Mary Faith?"

Then he came out into the kitchen where she was cutting up a fresh pineapple for dessert.

"What's the matter?" he asked. He knew that something was the matter the minute he looked at her.

She always came to meet him at night. Almost always she had his slippers ready for him and the brown linen house coat that he wore on these hot summer evenings.

But tonight she didn't take a step in his direction. She stood at the table looking at him. There was a little thoughtful frown between her eyes, as if she were trying to figure him out.

"Kim," she said, "you certainly are a fast worker."

"Why?" he asked. He took off his straw hat and she noticed, without knowing that she was looking at it, the dark ring that it left on his fair hair.

"On Saturday night you saw that girl in the drug store," she told him. "And I—like the fool I am—told you who she was and where you could find her. And it didn't take you very long to do it, did it?"

Kitchen Towels Become Decorative

SINCE the designer's magic first touched the kitchen, everything in it has been transformed—and now the artist's touch has come to what used to be about the lowest form of still life.

To harmonize with the pots and pans and to make interesting contrasts with the walls and trim of the kitchen, the new dish towels are gay with plaids and checks and motifs in many delightful colors.

A band down the center of the towel is one of the unusual designs, modernistic in its artful simplicity. The band may be anywhere from two to seven inches wide.

And to show how the humble kitchen towel has risen, these banded towels may also grace the table as runners and the windows as curtains.

The simple banded towel is only the beginning. Designers have become more daring and to the bands have added pictures which tell the story of some particular service which the towel might perform.

There is, for instance, the towel with the words "glass cloth" woven in the linen and with illustrations of a bunch of grapes, a pitcher and a glass.

Also interesting is the design showing a colored horn of plenty, overflowing with fruit, and some graceful glasses. And there are colors for every kitchen.

I LIKE to think of myself as an American. Most of my friends are Americans. I have been educated in the United States, at Columbia University, and then by American music teachers. And my real happiness has come to me in the United States—success in the world I love—the great world of music. I speak humbly about this success, but such as it is, it could hardly have come to me—a woman—in my own Japan.

And so it happens that I look everywhere at American life, and that I study American men—and women—and customs. And that as the result today, I am going to say a little of what I think about some of the absurdities of women in America, you and your Aunt Dora, even myself.

I would like to begin by laughing at the thing which demands more space in your newspapers and your magazines and your moving pictures, yes, and your operas, than any other thing in current life. And that thing is love. In the "high-brow" magazines we read how the perfect lady falls in love; in the tabloids we read how the perfect gunwoman falls in love, and in between the lady and the gun moll we have the elevator girl and the business woman and the charlady and the girl at the switchboard, and somewhere, even now, an army of fiction writers are weaving stories about all of these women, just on the point of accepting—or rejecting—the love of Tom, Dick and Harry.

It really seems as if the world would go dizzy with repetition of the same old love theme. And it wouldn't be so bad if some of us didn't believe, or pretend that we believe, all sorts of added nonsense. That marriages are made in Heaven—that a girl or a man must hunt until he—or she—finds his perfect love, his ideal. That you will surely know him when you see him. Whether you will recognize him by some magical click of your heart or his, that the writers also explain. And so the thing goes on, till love becomes common and we talk of it and read of it with as much routine as we brush our teeth twice a day.

BUT there is another camp in this adopted country of mine. And the people in this camp are even worse. They are the mad, infatuated women who explain that "my work comes first, and I must have my career." I have noticed that some of these women get neither work nor love; that, very often, all they get is the heartache for things they have missed, things they had too little sense to realize they needed, while yet there was time.

So I reach the question—why should not all of us women face the facts? Which seem to me to be about so: Too much bother and embroidery and sheer drivelling words are wasted on those love affairs which should be as spontaneous as a spring breeze, blown and done. Why not adopt the slogan, "Certainly, love and marriage first. And then on to work. Love is not all of life!"

Which brings me to the question of equality. When women got the vote in these United States, we were told that now we would be equal to men. But are we, I ask? Has there ever been a woman President, and is it likely that there ever will be a woman President, in your day or mine? In fact, do not the politicians look at us women—those of us who would like to hold some kind of office—look at us and laugh? They do, and as yet we have devised no weapon, not even our precious votes, to keep them from laughing.

But it is not merely in big office that women fail to share equality. If some of the girls, the political girls, could pluck some of the plums of office, many would be content. We hear that there are great big prises of—er—graft, or at any rate, the perquisites of office. We hear that some man held some office and by and by had money in the bank.

But women in politics curse the day when they accept graft. It seems that the few women who have been interested in—well—the more monetary side of politics—have got into trouble for rather small sums. So there equality is lagging. No doubt, men feel that such women should be protected, no matter how it hurts.

AND in private life, even today, American women in society often must submit to a custom which makes them little more than small girls. At dinner when the beautiful letting-down spell arrives, it is then the time for the ladies to leave the men over their wine—or whatever it is the host has provided. They go to the parlor to sip coffee and to wait for the men. But the men, back in the drawing room, get out their best stories—and cigars—once they are all by themselves.

I ask you, is this equality? Why not start right here, fighting to make women equal by inaugurating a custom of sending the boys off to suck their thumbs in the parlor while the ladies linger about the board, telling Some Good Ones, and getting pleasingly "pifflicated?" Why not, I ask, if we women ever are going to be equal?

Take the average household where Mrs. Whosis has a job and an office, quite as much as Mr. Whosis. They may each have to be at the office at 9, and each may have to work till 5. But if they do have a maid, who is it that dusts and tidies up the house before work in the morning? Mrs. Whosis. And who is it hurries into a kitchen frock and cooks supper at night? Mrs. Whosis again. And if there are babies, and they get sick, who stays home and runs the risk of black looks or loss of a job? Not father, but mother. Yet why—why isn't it fair for each to take turns with these obligations of marriage?

NOW I have long thought, as I looked about me at some of the gallant women I have met, and some of their interesting, delicate and delightful husbands, that it is only convention which allots certain tasks to one sex or the other. And that, for comfort and sheer reason, convention should be broken. For instance, I know some women who hate and loathe to shop. Yet when they need cup towels or parlor curtains, they have to go get them. Whereas, it may be, they are married to men with rare taste, a passion for detail, and a love of beauty, men who would burn to be allowed to do the household shopping if all the other boys would not at that cry out—"sissy boy! Tied to his wife's apron strings!"

Again, stocking darning has been said to be woman's work—because of her sex, from ever since that time when we took to stockings. I could show you more than a handful of women who would rather swear than darn; who would much prefer to wear 'em holey, than darn 'em. But would such women dare suggest to their husbands—provided these were of a meticulous, stocking darning nature—that they heave to and wield the darning needle? No—that, for a man, is supposed to be demeaning. But bosh, I say. There are husbands all over our land whose nerves would be all straightened out with an hour's good hard mending every evening.

Last of all, I would like to see a genuine dress reform in these United States, and I do not believe we will ever have genuine equality until we do achieve a more equal condition as to dress.

It is slavish custom today for women to wear all the laces, the satins (save a stingy bit left over for the masculine tie)—all the velvets and brocades and feathers and jewels of diamond and platinum. It is the same slavish custom for men to tog themselves up in a choking collar, an absurd and gloomy business suit, or an equally absurd and funereal swallow tail or dinner coat, when formal occasions arrive.

This is the state of affairs. But how are these men and these women in their hearts? There are many women rebelling, furious, resentful at the custom which decrees changes of styles twice a year at least, and so many clothes that the closet is glutted, if they are to have something for every occasion. They would revel in a pair of "pants" and a simple coat and vest—for a time, while they seized the occasion to do things they wanted to without the fuss of always thinking of clothes.

AGAIN, there are men who rebel, despise, loathe and mourn the slavish styles that decree that never may they wear a lovely cloak of red velvet, a beautiful hat with a waving gold feather, or disport a red bracelet upon their manly and hairy arm. Well, I ask, when there are men who yearn for color, is it fair to laugh at these for donning a loud check suit or a speaking necktie?

I predict, in fact I am sure, that if we gave the men more chance to express themselves with color and lovely material and unusual cut of coat or toga, we would create in them such a new graciousness that—some day—they would help elect a woman Mayor, or chairman of the board.

Here, in short, is my expression of faith. I believe there are more men will allow, as yet. I believe there are more men in the country with lovely, precise power to bake cakes, darn socks, work needle-point embroidery, dust parlors, polish the silver and choose the family linens than any woman would believe—till she saw it proved before her eyes.

We are a nation jazz mad. We have rung the changes on love, real and fancied, legal and illegal, young and old, till the subject should nauseate us to the point of demanding a moratorium, for love.

For that moratorium, I have a women in America fit to head companies, run banks, clean streets, drive engines and run farms than suggestion. It is an experiment. The experiment of dividing up the work of the world again, and assorting the clothes of the sexes again. And achieving some real equality. Let us send the men with domesticity in their hearts back to the kitchen to express their souls. And let us free many women from the slavery of dress. And put them into a uniform, for a time at least. And give them a chance at the hard work of the world, on an equal basis with men. This, then, is my idea of making our country at least a more logical world to live in.

DAILY STORY FOR CHILDREN
By Mary Graham Bonner

Leaving the Party

"THE cows have just been milked — that's why you couldn't serve your refreshments before," John said.

"Quite right," said Mid-August. "I wanted you to have the milk as soon as the cows were milked, because it is so delicious then.

"While the Goldfinch was talking I took my tray and glasses and went into the old barn near this field. The cows were just going into the barn for milking.

"I knew how much you would enjoy the milk in just this way, and the farmer's wife was making patty cakes and told me I could have some. She would not have been able to understand me, nor could I have understood her had not the Little Black Clock used some of his magic."

Mid-August was delighted to see how much the children enjoyed her refreshments, and how they loved seeing all the birds come around.

Now the sun was going down back of a hill, all big and round and red, and the Little Black Clock agreed with Mid-August that that meant that they would have a very warm day following this one.

But as they walked from the field over a hill there they saw the sun once more. It was a little surprise the Clock had for them, for they had not thought they would see the sun again this evening.

"We're higher up, that's why," the Little Black Clock explained.

And the Clock hurried back to his place on the back hall desk and looked as though he hadn't been away at all!

DEAR MRS. CARR: Like many others I am having you for my last resort. I hardly know how to begin, since I never criticise my husband and every one thinks we are an ideal pair. I have been married 10 years and have two boys, one seven years old and the other five.

When we married we had nothing, but my mother and father started that way and I was content. We did get along for a while until he started gambling and again it was the same story. We have a store in which we both work, but he leaves it and loafs around and I get only what money I ask for. If he says he hasn't any in his pocket, I don't get any. Then I point out these things to him he says I am nagging.

I am thoroughly upset and on the verge of insanity. We are drifting and getting nowhere, and I hate to leave my home as the children will suffer. If I am not at the store it will go under from neglect. In spite of this I love my husband, but something will have to wake him up or it will turn to hate. JESS.

You will have to be that something to wake him up. Do something more vigrous than nagging; him you will have to have a decent amount of the cash from the store. You are there to get it while he is away loafing and you intend to use it, since you are doing most of the work. People must often pay you for goods they buy and you keep your portion. He won't do anything about it.

DEAR MRS. CARR: I am 24 years old and have been married two years. I have been very happy, but my husband is beginning to neglect me. He works but the money doesn't do much good. I want to go to housekeeping but am afraid to risk it. I am thinking of divorce. UNHAPPY.

Make your home as attractive as any place he can go, even if you have only one room. Don't mope. Forget about divorce until you have made a real effort. Perhaps the housekeeping idea would interest him. Use your backbone and don't be afraid.

MY DEAR MRS. CARR: I come of a wealthy family and all my life I have had everything I want but the love of my mother. I can't quite understand her. She has always so partial to my brother and shouts at me no matter what I do. I am invited and have gobs of dates and when mother is with other friends she brags about how popular I am. But with me she is distant and cold—so far away. After a dance, my friends tell their mothers everything and they laugh and have a good time together. But if I should do this mother, I am afraid, would be shocked. All my life I have prayed for a mother who would love and understand me and I find myself now loving mine only through respect. THANK YOU KINDLY.

Probably the trouble is that your mother just takes you too much for granted. Mothers are likely to be that women. And then again you may have a notion—a mistaken one, I'll admit, that she must keep you from being spoiled for your own sake, and since she knows how popular you are and well-liked, must constantly take the attitude of disciplining you. With boys, for some reason, mothers, not understanding the masculine nature so well, are constantly afraid of their sons getting away from them, and apprehensively nourish every little one. Could it be that your brother knows your mother a little more tenderness than you?

Of course she loves you and is proud as Punch of her daughter. If anyone criticised or hurt you in any way she would fight to the death. If she is not demonstrative naturally, she might want to be, but just can't let herself go. Gradually try as hard to gain her visible show of affection as you do to gain popularity, and pet her up and laugh about it even if she does repel you. She may be crazy about it, but give you a little push which she doesn't mean at all.

DEAR MRS. CARR: I have an organdy, white with reddish brown flowers. I would like to know what kind of slip to wear with it. E. B.

A white slip, crepe or some silk fabric.

DEAR MRS. CARR: My father has been out of work for quite a while and the only money that comes in is through a brother. Now my parents want me to go to work, but I am anxious to finish my last two years in high school, to study architecture in college. I have an aunt who says she will give me the money for anything I wish to take up after I graduate. Could I study that with only two years of high school? Of course, I should like to earn some money. Since I have none I have no friends and have to sit around the house all the time. What do you think I should do? BEWILDERED.

If you have shown your parents that you are serious about college and definite work, I should think they would hesitate very much to take you out of school now, especially as your aunt has made your

Probably the trouble is that your mother just takes you too much for granted. Mothers are likely to do that with daughters because you are both women. And then again you may have a notion—a mistaken one, I'll admit, that she must keep you from being spoiled for your own sake, and since she knows how popular you are and well-liked, must constantly take the attitude of disciplining you. With boys, for some reason, mothers, not understanding the masculine nature so well, are constantly afraid of their sons getting away from them, and apprehensively nourish every little ills. Could it be that your brother shows your mother a little more tenderness than you?

Of course she loves you and is proud as Punch of her daughter. If anyone criticised or hurt you in any way she would fight to the teeth. If she is not demonstrative naturally, she might want to be, but just can't let herself go. Gradually try as hard to gain her visible show of affection as you do to gain popularity, and pet her up and rough about it even if she does repel you. She may be crazy about it, but give you a little push which she doesn't mean at all.

DEAR MRS. CARR: I have an organdy, white with reddish brown flowers. I would like to know what kind of slip to wear with it. E. B.

DEAR MRS. CARR: My father has been out of work for quite a while and the only money that comes in is through a brother. Now my parents want me to go to work, but I am anxious to finish my last two years in high school, to study architecture in college. I have an aunt who says she will give me the money for anything I wish to take up after I graduate. Could I study that with only two years of high school? Of course, I should like to earn some money. Since I have none I have no friends and have to sit around the house all the time. What do you think I should do? BEWILDERED.

If you have shown your parents that you are serious about college and definite work, I should think they would hesitate very much to take you out of school now, especially as your aunt has made your graduation a provision of her gift. Unless your father is unable to work I should keep up the school ing. And I should be sure that he was trying every day to get work if he is strong enough to do it. You might, however, go to night school, and work at something that would bring you a little money. But of course that would be hard on you and a thing no father should allow if he can help it. Your brother will get tired, too. After you are prepared for your profession you probably can help all of them.

You must go now to the office of some successful architect, and write to some college and ask just what the requirements are.

DEAR MRS. CARR: I am 16 years old and in love with a boy near that age. Are we too young? My parents don't care particularly to have us going together. And I don't know how to tell whether he loves just me or somebody else. L. K.

Your last sentence shows that you are too young. Besides, at 16 you should go with more than one boy, if you go with boys at all.

Letters intended for this column must be addressed to Martha Carr at the St. Louis Post-Dispatch. Mrs. Carr will answer all questions of general interest but, of course, cannot give advice on matters of a purely legal or medical nature. Those who do not care to have their letters published may enclose an addressed and stamped envelope for a personal reply.

Bright Autumn Colors

Tallyho green, Spanish tile and provincial blue, unadulterated colors with new names, are bright spots for the autumn outdoor scene. They come in two-piece daytime suits of wool or jersey worn with equally gay contrasting colors.

BANK CLERK ADMITS HE EMBEZZLED $1,500,000

ead of Coupon Depart-ment of Chicago's Lar-gest Depository "Bor-owed" Bonds for 12 Years for Broker's Margin

OSS $2,000,000, LLOYDS DECLARES

the Associated Press.

HICAGO, Sept. 2.—Walter Wolf, years old, for 20 years an em-oye of the Continental Illinois ank and Trust Co., will be prose-uted on a charge of embezzling an mount estimated in some quarters $2,000,000 and in others at $1,-00,000. He is held in custody of rivate detectives at a hotel, and s confessed, bank officers said. Lloyds of London, which carried e bank employes' bonds, esti-ted the amount at $2,000,000. eports current in La Salle street aced the figure at $1,500,000. ank officers said it would be im-ossible to estimate the amount ith accuracy until an inventory is mpleted, but admitted the defal-ations were "substantial." They redicted the Lloyds estimate would too high.

The officers said Wolf had con-ssed to carrying on his defalca-ons by using an audit-proof sys-m over a period of 12 years, but ey added that the bank, the larg-t in Chicago, was protected ainst loss by Lloyds. Wolfe's sal-y was $4000 a year.

Statement by Banker.

George H. Reynolds, chairman the bank's executive committee, ued a statement which said, in rt:

"Walter Wolf, manager of the upon department, has confessed t he has embezzled securities om the bank over a period of ars, most of which have been ken in the last two or three ars. These securities were used speculations in the stock and ain market. For the most part e missing securities were used margins, and the recoveries will eatly reduce the amount in-olved."

Wolf's system remained audit-of up to the moment of his nfession, which was brought out, not by evidence discovered side the bank, but by suspicions a broker who wondered where olf was getting the huge amounts lost in his speculations.

Wolf, Reynolds said, began his culations in 1919. At that time was employed by the old Illinois rust & Savings Bank which later, rough two mergers, became a rt of the Continental Bank & rust Co.

Wolf is accused of using securi-s owned by customers of the nk. The customer received a ceipt. A record was made for e bank, but when Wolf took a nd, he would also take the rec-d that went with it. Thus, so r as the bank was concerned, ere would be no record that the nd had ever been deposited. ence an audit would disclose thing.

Major Thefts in 1929.

These bonds were placed by olf with brokers as margin for s speculations, the officers said. hen a bond had to be accounted r, Wolf would get it back from s broker, substituting another. olf was forced to commit his ajor thefts during the stock rry of 1929, Reynolds said.

The broker, bewildered by Wolf's pparently inexhaustible supply of alth, dropped into the bank to quire about his financial situa-on. A report of this reached olf, who was away on a vaca-on. He returned home, called in vice president of the bank, who as a friend of many years stand-g, and made his first confession.

Wolf was then taken before the xecutives of the bank, to whom e is quoted as saying: "I will do verything in my power to help scover what can be recovered. fter that you may do with me as ou like."

Wolf is married and has one aughter, 12 years old. He lives in modest River Forest suburban ome.
